SEC OUSTS HUTTON FIRM

WASHINGTON, March 4.—(UP)—The Securities and Exchange Commission today suspended William E. Hutton, II, Detroit partner in the New York brokerage firm of W. E. Hutton & Co., from membership in eight securities exchanges for three months. The action was taken on charges of stock price manipulation.

The commission also suspended for one month the membership of H. H. Michels, member of the San Francisco brokerage firm of William Cavalier & Co.

"Manipulators"

Young Hutton is a cousin of the former Barbara Hutton. He and his firm were charged by the SEC with manipulating the stock of Atlas Tack Corporation. However, the commission ordered the proceedings discontinued insofar as the Hutton firm was concerned. The commission also discontinued proceedings against John Christy Duncan and Carroll V. Geran, who also were named in the proceedings.

The commission was advised that Jerry McCarthy, a customer's man in the Detroit office of W. E. Hutton & Co., who encouraged the purchase of Atlas stock by prominent persons, including Mickey Cochrane and other members of the Detroit Tigers baseball club, has been discharged and will not be re-employed by the company.

The commission said that young Hutton and Michels both consented to the entry of the suspension order, but denied all the charges made against them.

Hutton is a member of the New York club, Philadelphia, Detroit, Chicago, Baltimore and Cincinnati Stock exchanges and the Chicago board of trade. His suspension will become effective March 15.

Michels, whose suspension becomes effective the same day, is a member of the New York, San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock exchanges and the Chicago board of trade.

Track Removal Up To S. P.-Santa Fe

The removal of the Southern Pacific tracks from Anaheim to Santa Ana today was thrown squarely in the laps of the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railroads as the result of a decision handed down by the legal department of the Railroad Commission of the State of California.

In a letter received by The Register today from Justus Craemer, of Orange, state commissioner, it was stated that in the opinion of the legal department "the Commission is without jurisdiction to order the Southern Pacific to abandon such tracks, to require the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific to enter into an agreement for joint use of the Santa Fe tracks, or to direct the Southern Pacific to construct a 'cross-over' between the Santa Fe tracks and the Southern Pacific spur and station facilities."

"If the carriers desired to make changes, it would be necessary for them to apply for and receive the authorization of the Interstate Commerce Commission," the opinion stated.

Pacific States Loan Co. Closed

SAN FRANCISCO, March 4.—(UP)—State Building and Loan Commissioner Ralph Evans today took over the $50,000,000 Pacific States Saving and Loan Company.

A sign was then posted on the front door announcing that the company's offices were "temporarily closed."

President Odell said: "We had no previous notice or warning. This action comes as a complete surprise."

"We will promptly and vigorously contest the action."

Another official of the company said "liquidation would do irreparable harm to certificate holders."

Commissioner Evans said he took over "under section 1311 of the state building and loan statutes."

Last week a group of creditors filed bankruptcy proceedings in the Los Angeles federal court against the company, alleging the concern was insolvent.

Powers Await Naming Of Vatican Secretary

VATICAN CITY, March 4.—(UP)—Diplomats throughout Europe awaited the appointment of a secretary of state by Pope Pius XII today, in the belief that they might deduce the course of the new Supreme Pontiff's world policy.

There was considerable surprise because the Pope did not name his secretary of state yesterday. The delay was taken to mean he had not made up his mind regarding an appointment which was bound to be taken by the diplomatic world as of great significance.

Three Mentioned

Three had been mentioned for the post, Luigi Cardinal Maglione, prefect of the congregation of the council, a former Papal nuncio to Switzerland and then to France, was most prominently mentioned. He was regarded as second only to the new Pope, who was his predecessor's secretary, in diplomatic skill. Francesco Cardinal Marmaggi, connected for 16 years with the secretariat of state and subsequently nuncio to Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Poland, and Frederico Cardinal Tedeschini, under secretary of state during the World War, and former nuncio to Madrid both under the monarchy and during the early years of the republic, were the others.

No public ceremonies were set for today and officials of the Vatican were able to get back to routine duties, interrupted when Pope Pius XI died February 10.

The new Pope held the usual set audiences. He was under-

MAY SEND TROOPS TO LABOR WAR ZONE

WESTWOOD, Cal., March 4.—(UP)—A threat of martial law hung over this embattled lumber town today as disturbances continued in a jurisdictional dispute between American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations unions.

CIO men, fearing another "purge" such as occurred last summer when they and their families were driven out of town, were remaining in their homes in fear of roving squads of AFL men.

Plans Report
Lt. Col. Charles F. Henderson of the state militia, was to report to Gov. Culbert L. Olson on the seriousness of the situation, with a recommendation for or against bringing in national guard units to preserve order.

Henderson said the situation was "under control" but new outbreaks occurred later in which CIO men protested their lives were endangered and that local law enforcement officers were not providing adequate protection.

From the state capital at Sacramento, Gov. Olson criticized the AFL union at Westwood's Red River Lumber Company plant and asked a group of CIO men if they wanted martial law declared.

"If there is no other way to keep peace up there," Olson said, "we will have to send in the national guard. When local officers won't enforce the law, there is no other recourse."

His announcement was made after a conference at which it was charged Lassen county deputy sheriffs wore AFL badges next to their official badges and that the deputies were among those assertedly aiding in last summer's purge.

"It is sad for workers to scrap among each other, destroying their own cause," Olson said. "Labor ought to get sense enough to unite."

The governor, who recently advanced a peace plan for settlement of the dispute through restoration of a company wage cut and a collective bargaining election in a "fair and impartial atmosphere" within 30 days, saw a possible end to the disturbances in a new move.

He asked if order would be restored if the mill reopened pending a state audit of its books to determine if the pay cuts could be restored. CIO men told him they thought reopening would bring no peace.

Daughter Born To "Tex" Olivers

Word was received here today of the birth of a nine pound daughter to Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Olivers, of Eugene, Ore. To residents of Santa Ana and Orange county the nick-name "Tex" before the name Oliver makes a front page news.

A former Santa Ana high school football coach, Oliver is at present head coach at the University of Oregon at Eugene. Both Mrs. Oliver and the daughter "are doing well."

More Windbreaks Urged At Meet

A mass meeting in the campaign to increase windbreak plantings in Orange county will be held at the American Legion hall in Placentia next Thursday at 2:30 p. m., it was announced today by Jack Prizer, Fullerton packing house executive, following a meeting of managers.

All growers with property north of the Santa Ana river are urged to attend. Meetings for ranchers south of the river will be held later. Speakers will include Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg and several prominent growers. Several growers are expected to attend the session.

Value of windbreaks in protecting fruit from damaging effects of wind will be stressed in the campaign.

Charge Stock Manipulations

WASHINGTON, March 4.—(UP)—The Securities and Exchange Commission today revoked the registrations of G. L. Ohrstrom & Co., Inc., a New York corporation, and G. L. Ohrstrom, Inc., of Illinois because of their alleged manipulation of the stock of Sweet's Steel Co.

The revocation, in effect, will necessitate liquidation of the firms, which are large over-the-counter brokers and securities dealers.

While the commission's revocation order was entered today, it is not to become effective until the close of business March 31. The intervening period was requested by the firms to permit time for orderly liquidation of their affairs.

The commission held that the firms created a false market for the Sweet's steel stock.

Drug Officials Face Charges

MODESTO, Cal., March 4.—(UP)—Complaints charging conspiracy to violate the state unfair practices act were on file here today against four officials of the Sontag Drug company chain on the basis of indictments returned yesterday by the Stanislaus county grand jury.

The four men named in the complaint were H. V. Lloyd, San Francisco, northern division manager of the chain; Peter Marquard, San Francisco, advertising manager; Henry Kemp, San Francisco, merchandise manager; and Ralph Kattge, manager of the Modesto Sontag store.

The men are accused of selling articles at below cost prices. All are at liberty on bond.

OLSON PLANS RELIEF PLEA

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 4.—(UP)—Unemployment relief dominated the legislative picture today as Gov. Culbert L. Olson prepared to ask for a second deficiency relief appropriation of between four and six million dollars when the 53rd legislature reconvenes Monday after the constitutional recess.

In addition to seeking sufficient money to continue relief check through the biennium ending June 30, the governor was ready for a "battle to the finish" on his proposal to raise $63,000,000 in new revenues to help meet his record $557,000,000 biennial budget.

Quotes Anderson

Governor Olson quoted State Relief Administrator H. Dewey Anderson that the $19,750,000 special relief appropriation voted in January would last only until May 6, thus requiring from four to six million dollars for the remaining seven weeks. Olson said "inaccurate" figures compiled by the previous administration caused the shortage.

On another front, a committee of 10 persons named by Olson sought the answer to the relief problem by studying the feasibility of substituting Anderson's proposed production-for-use program for the present cash relief "dole."

Study Proposals

The legislature is well started on its study of proposed legislation after three weeks of intensive interim committee hearings.

FINANCIAL WIZARD HEADS NAZI DRIVE

BERLIN, March 4.—(UP)—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, the financial "wizard" recently ousted as head of the Reichsbank, was reported in reliable quarters today to have been instructed by Adolf Hitler to take command of a great campaign to revive foreign trade.

Coincident with this report, Field Marshal Herman Goerring, Hitler's right hand man, went to Italy for a visit of several weeks during which he was expected to hold important conferences with Premier Benito Mussolini and other Italian leaders.

Goering was expected particularly to discuss Italy's "aspirations" at France's expense and the future relations of Germany and Italy with Nationalist Spain. Schacht's reported assignment was regarded in well informed quarters as even more important, however, and of considerable significance to all countries which strive for world trade.

It was said that Hitler had personally given Schacht instructions: 1—Seek new markets for German goods abroad to provide additional foreign exchange.

Economic Struggle

2—Attempt to arrange a settlement of the situation created by frozen debits and credits under the Nazi economic system.

This plan, as reported by trustworthy German sources, was of added interest because of the opening of a new British campaign to improve trade relations with North European nations and with Soviet Russia. In recent months economic factors have become more closely intertwined phases of Europe's struggle between democracies and dictatorships until trade has become a potent weapon of diplomacy.

SPROUL OFFERED $45,000 JOB AS HEAD OF BAY CITY BANK

SAN FRANCISCO, March 4.—(UP)—Robert Gordon Sproul, president of the University of California, has been offered the presidency of the Anglo California National Bank of San Francisco, Mortimer Fleishacker, the bank's chairman, announced today.

Salary was not disclosed but it was understood Sproul would be paid "the usual salary paid Anglo's president," approximately $45,000 a year.

Fleishacker said he hesitated to take Sproul away from the University of California but finally made the offer "when I learned another big western bank was trying to get him to be its president."

Defensive Move
"I didn't want," Fleishacker said, "to see Mr. Sproul lost to both the university and our bank."

Sproul, in Los Angeles, said he was giving the offer careful consideration and would make a statement later "whether I will accept it or not." Sproul's salary as head of the university is $13,500 a year.

Anglo's presidency has been vacant since Herbert Fleishacker's retirement last October. Since

AWAIT VERDICT IN COUNSEL WAGE CASE

The amended mandamus petition filed by James Walker, former county counsel, to compel Auditor W. T. Lambert to pay his salary, was taken under advisement by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel yesterday after hearing argument on the issue by Walker and District Attorney George Holden, representing Lambert.

After the court had ruled that Walker's appointment to the post by the county supervisors was invalid, as the county salary ordinance places the right of appointment with the district attorney, had, in effect, ratified the appointment.

He argued that contention to the court yesterday, declaring that since he had performed the duties for which the supervisors had appointed him, and the district attorney had not objected to his occupancy of the post, the district attorney had in effect ratified the appointment.

PIANIST CANCELS TOUR

CLEVELAND, March 4.—(UP)—Ignace Jan Paderewski, the renowned pianist, cancelled all engagements today for two weeks because of an infection in one of his hands.

Paderewski had arrived here this morning to play an engagement tomorrow.

A physician, Dr. John P. Anderson, advised against the appearance after examining Paderewski. He said the musician's recent attack of influenza in the east had resulted in rheumatic difficulties in his left hand.

BULLETIN

MEXICALI, Mex., March 4.—(UP)—Hedy Lamarr, winsome film star, was married to Movie Producer Gene Markey today in a Mexican civil ceremony.

The dark-haired Viennese actress and Markey, former husband of Film Actress Joan Bennett, were married at the local palacio or state building. They obtained a license a half hour prior to the marriage.

HOLLYWOOD, March 4.—(UP)—A studio representative said today he had been informed that Hedy Lamarr, brunette star who became famous for her clothes role in the film "Ecstasy," and Gene Markey, film producer, would be married this afternoon.

They probably will elope to Tijuana, just across the border in Mexico from San Diego, Cal., according to the representative of 20th Century-Fox Studio, where Markey makes motion pictures.

Markey was reported to be in San Diego. Miss Lamarr's whereabouts had not been ascertained. Telephone calls to her Hollywood apartment were unanswered.

"Fell In Love"

The beautiful Hedy, ballyhoosed in Hollywood as a successor to the late Jean Harlow, and Markey, a divorced husband of Blonde Joan Bennett, fell in love several months ago and have been seen together in film colony night spots constantly since then.

Miss Lamarr is a Viennese actress who became famous for a role in European film "Ecstasy," that was the sensation of a motion picture exposition in Italy.

She appeared clothesless in several scenes and after her marriage later to Fritz Mandler rich munitions maker, he tried to buy up all prints of the film and destroy them. He was unsuccessful and the picture was shown in America. She divorced him later and came to Hollywood where she boomed to stardom in the film "Algiers."

Senior students at Columbia University in New York city a few weeks ago voted her as the most desirable woman with whom to be marooned on a desert island. A year before the students tribute went to Madeleine Carroll, the blonde British actress.

Markey was divorced by Miss Bennett two years ago. Their union, which lasted for five years, had been known as one of Hollywood's "perfect marriages." The blonde actress charged him with mental cruelty—fits of temper after she came home tired from a hard day at the studio.

Bull Lea Wins At Miami; Stagehand Runs Third

MIAMI, Fla., March 4.—(UP)—Bull Lea upset Stagehand, the odds-on favorite, and won the fifth running of the Widener Challenge Cup race today before a crowd of 25,000 at Hialeah park.

Sir Damien was second and Stagehand was third. Mythical King was fourth.

NAVY SHIP PROGRAM NEARS COMPLETION

WASHINGTON, March 4.—(UP)—Assistant Secretary of the Navy Charles Edison said today the administration's shipbuilding program has overcome early labor and technical difficulties and predicted its completion on schedule.

Edison said work is being expedited in navy and private shipyards as a result of close cooperation between industry and government.

Work on 73 Ships

The navy is pressing steadily ahead with work on 73 warships, ranging from 40,000 ton battleships down to tenders. But current discussion of national defense centers on the vast expansion of the army air corps.

Passage by the House yesterday of a $500,000,000 appropriation for support of the army for the fiscal year beginning July 1 placed the bulk of President Roosevelt's defense program before the Senate for action. Currently, the Senate is debating an emergency defense bill that would authorize expansion of army air corps strength to 6000 planes.

Await Action

Also passed by the House and awaiting Senate action is a bill to establish 10 new naval air bases in strategic outlying areas. That bill originally included the controversial $5,000,000 item for harbor work at the island of Guam.

Edison, discussing the naval program which was enlarged by the last Congress, said it would be completed by the end of 1939. "The ships are being launched rapidly," he said. "We are over the hump, originating at the inception of the program in 1933, which arose because of long inactivity in American shipbuilding and lack of skilled personnel. We now have adequate personnel and advanced technological improvements."

Reveal New Pope Injured Arm

ROME, March 4.—(UP)—The newspaper Giornale D'Italia announced today that Pope Pius XII fell and injured his arm yesterday while enroute to the Sistine chapel.

The accident occurred while the Pope was going to the chapel to broadcast his first message to the world, a plea for universal peace, the newspaper said.

Giornale said it understood the fall occurred in the ducal hall, which is one of the rooms where the election conclave was held. The paper said the Pope, descending three steps, slipped and hit his right elbow hard on the marble floor.

After the ceremony in the Sistine chapel, Giornale said, Dr. Galeazzi examined the Pope's arm and found no bones broken.

CONGRESS IN ANNIVERSARY

WASHINGTON, March 4.—(UP)—President Roosevelt and Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes joined today in a fervent exhalation of democratic principles and religious freedom in a world stirred by rising forms of autocracy.

In addresses to a special joint session of congress, both hailed the vigorous survival of the American bill of rights.

Mr. Roosevelt made special mention of the freedom of worship. He declared the United States could not by passive silence "lend encouragement to those who today persecute religion or deny it."

Anniversary Event

The President and Chief Justice addressed Congress on the occasion of the 150th anniversary of its initial session at New York, March 4, 1789. It was the first time in history that a chief justice has addressed Congress.

Hughes' address contained passages couched in general terms but believed by his listeners to refer to issues widely debated during dispute over President Roosevelt's proposals for enlarging the supreme court.

"If our checks and balances sometimes prevent the speedy action which is thought desirable," Hughes said, "they also assure in the long run a more deliberate judgment. And what the people want, they generally get."

"Partners"

He characterized the executive, judicial and legislative branches of government as "partners" and declared "one member of our body politic cannot say to another—I have no need of thee."

Hughes warned against "abuses threatened by gusts of passion and prejudice which in misguided zeal would destroy the basic interests of democracy."

Mr. Roosevelt did not mention dictatorships directly but left no doubt of his faith in the superiority of democracy over "other forms of government" which "revert to those systems of concentrated self-perpetuating power." He abhorred "reincarnation of the 'justice' of the dark ages" in some nations.

Process Not Outborn

"Today," he said, "with many other democracies, the United States will give no encouragement to the belief that our processes are outborn, or that we will approvingly watch the return of forms of government which for 2000 years have proved their 'tryanny and instability alike.'"

"Shall we by our passiveness, by our silence, by assuming the attitude of the Levite who pulled his skirts together and passed on the other side, lend encouragement to those who today prosecute religion or deny it?" he asked.

Mr. Roosevelt replied to his own question with emphasis: "The answer is 'No,' just as in the days of the first Congress of the United States it was 'No.'"

Speaker William B. Bankhead and Sen. Key Pittman, President pro-tem of the Senate also spoke briefly.

The addresses were delivered in the chamber of the House of Representatives in which both Senate and House had assembled in joint meeting. Cabinet officers, members of the Supreme Court, ranking army and navy officers sat in a specially reserved section of the chamber. Galleries were jammed with members of the diplomatic corps, newspapermen, wives and friends of Congressmen and the general public.

The gathering was in strange contrast to the initial assembly of scattered representatives of the 13 struggling states in a New York federal hall 150 years ago.

Mr. Roosevelt declared there was a "vast chasm between our representative democracy and those reversions to personal rule which have characterized these recent years."

Two major differences between these forms of government, he said, were the democratic principle of "free choice by the body politic" and the freedoms guaranteed our democracy under the bill of rights of the constitution.

Jack Johns, 27, employee at Knott's Berry place, was jailed here yesterday afternoon on a charge of suspicion of burglary after W. B. Duff, service station operator, of 122 Marshall street, Buena Park, complained that Johns assertedly took $15 from the station cash register. Duff alleged that while he was servicing Johns' car, giving him $1.40 worth of gasoline, oil, cigarettes and cigars on credit, Johns entered the station "to get a rag which was under the register, then took a $10 and $5 bill."

Charged with contributing to the delinquency of five minor children, Mrs. Jessie Briggs, 34, and Dan Zickler, both of Buena Park, were arrested yesterday at a Buena Park cafe and booked at county jail. The children, those of Mrs. Briggs, range in age between 17 and 3 1/2 years. The couple was arrested by Anaheim police and sheriff's officers on an Anaheim justice court bench warrant.

A Fullerton city court warrant charging Don DeBerry with driving without his driver's license, led to his arrest yesterday by sheriff's officers. He was booked at Fullerton city jail. The alleged offense occurred in Buena Park.

Complaint against an Orange county man who used a new method in obtaining free drinks of liquor was made informally yesterday by a Garden Grove cafe man who told sheriff's officers he was the victim. The man came to the place where liquor is served asking the proprietor to buy a Pomeranian dog. The proprietor didn't want a Pomeranian dog. The salesman drank five glasses of wine with the proprietor while he was giving his sales talk. He wanted only $2 for the dog. Finally, he thanked the proprietor for listening to the sales talk, then disappeared without paying for the drinks. The cafe man said he would like to sign a complaint against the dog salesman.

Lay Plans For Labor Battle

REDDING, Cal., March 4.—(UP)—New legal strategies to void a Shasta county anti-picketing law subordinated group demonstrations today as the Congress of Industrial Organizations attorney, Richard Gladstein, prepared a series of test cases.

The union, however, announced it would hold a "mass meeting" tomorrow and forecast new "developments." At the same time, 52 jailed pickets continued to protest inadequate and unsanitary jail conditions.

Attorney Gladstein broadened his legal efforts to have the ordinance declared unconstitutional by announcing he would ask the U. S. Supreme Court for a writ of review in the case of one prisoner and appeal to the state supreme court for a writ of habeas corpus in the case of another. These two moves were the principal strategies, although two defendants were ordered to stand trial in superior court on March 20.

One-act plays, skits, vocal solos, chorus numbers, and musical instrument selections comprise the entertainment.

Chairman Asher today announced that he will immediately send letters to the high schools regarding dates for the programs. When dates have been set, definite programs will be outlined for the schools, Asher said.

Olson Plans New Relief Fund Plea

Key groups compiled thousands of pages of testimony and sifted through many of the 3995 bills that went over the senate and assembly desks during the January session. Each legislator is permitted two more bills during the final session and many of the present measures will be amended and rerafted.

Another item of importance will be submission by the governor to the legislature of the controversial Philbrick report, covering activities of legislators and lobbyists as discovered by a Sacramento county grand jury investigation. Olson indicated he will accompany the 186-page report with recommendations of his own regarding corrupt practices and conduct of legislators.

Resumes Routine

The governor has resumed his normal office routine after many weeks of convalescence from his inaugural barbed wire collapse Jan. 7. He has been in close touch with floor leaders of both houses in preparation for the drive to put his progressive program into effect.

Olson is aware that a Republican majority in the senate will offer chief opposition to his plans. He was rebuffed several times during the first session, particularly on his unsuccessful attempt to force senate confirmation of three state harbor board commissioners. The governor refused to compromise on the choice of Germaine Bulke, San Francisco CIO labor leader, as one of the three commissioners and a showdown is scheduled in the near future.

Democratic Speaker Paul Peek of Long Beach, controls a 44 to 36 majority in the assembly. The Republicans have a narrow 22 to 18 lead in the senate.

Historic Drake Plate Discovery Recounted

The regular meeting of the Orange County Historical Society was held last night at the Bowers Memorial Museum on North Main street.

L. F. Harvey, superintendent of mails in the local postoffice, gave an interesting account of his boyhood days, under the title of "Early Silverado Canyon."

T. E. Stephenson, president of the association, gave a talk on the "Drake Plate of Brass," which was discovered about three years ago near San Quentin. Stephenson said this plate had been submitted to experts and pronounced to be genuine. The plate shows that probably Sir Francis Drake in one of his voyages touched and claimed the territory now included in California for Queen Elizabeth. The account of the discovery and identification of the Plate was extremely interesting.

The next meeting of the society will be held May 5, at which time it is hoped the president of the Southern California Historical Society will be present for an address.

New Nazi Envoy Arrives In U. S.

NEW YORK, March 4.—(UP)—Capt. Fritz Weidemann, one of Adolf Hitler's closest friends, came to the United States today on an errand of good will.

Weidemann, who is 48, will be the new German consul general in San Francisco, succeeding Baron Manfred Von Killinger, now attached to the German foreign office awaiting another assignment after reporting on the bombing of the Nazi freighter Vancouver off Oakland, Cal., last November 3.

"All my intentions and good wishes are to act as intermediary in creating good will between the two countries," Weidemann said. "However, I speak only as a private man and cannot comment on political or economic questions until I have presented my credentials as consul general."

TEXT OF ROOSEVELT MEMORIAL ADDRESS BEFORE CONGRESSMEN

WASHINGTON, March 4.—(UP)—The text of President Roosevelt's address before a joint session of the Congress in commemoration of the 150th anniversary of the first session of Congress follows:

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, gentlemen of the Supreme Court, Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We near the end of a three-year commemoration of the founding of the government of the United States. It has been aptly suggested that its successful organizing should rank as the eighth wonder of the world—for surely the evolution of permanent substance out of nebulous chaos justifies us in the use of superlatives.

Heroes—Villains
Thus, we may increase our oratory and please our vanity by picturing the period of the war of the revolution as crowded with an unanimous population of heroes dramatized by the admitted existence of a handful of traitors to fill the necessary role of villain. Nevertheless we are aware today that a more serious reading of history depicts a far less pleasing scene.

It should not detract from our satisfaction in the result to acknowledge that a very large number of inhabitants of the thirteen revolting colonies were opposed to rebellion and to independence, that there was constant friction between the Continental Congress and the commander-in-chief and his generals in the field: That inefficiency, regardless of the cause of it, was the rule rather than the exception in the long drawn out war, and finally that there is grave doubt as to whether independence would have been won at all if Great Britain herself had not been confronted with wars in Europe which diverted her attention to the maintenance of her existence in the nearer arena.

Ended Well
We can at least give thanks that in the first chapter all was well that ended well; and we can at least give thanks to those outstanding figures who strove against great odds for the maintenance of the national idea which their version and courage had created.

The opening idea which their vision and courage had created. The opening of the new chapter in 1783 discloses very definitely that assurance of continued independence could be guaranteed by none. Dissension and discord were so widely distributed among the thirteen new states that it was impossible to set up a union more strong or permanent than that loose, shaky debating society provided for under the articles of confederation. That we survived for six years is more of a tribute to the ability of the confederation Congress gracefully to do nothing, and to the exhaustion that followed the end of the war, rather than to any outstanding statesmanship or even leadership. Again we can properly say of the period of confederation, that all was well that ended well.

Critical Year
Those years have rightly been called "the critical period of American history." But for crisis—in this case a crisis of peace—there would have been no union: You the members of the Senate and the House, you the chief justice and associate justices, and I, the President of the United States, would not be here on this fourth of March, a century and a half later.

It is well to remember that from 1781 to 1789 the thirteen original states existed as a nation by the single thread of Congressional government, and without an executive or a judicial branch. This annual assembly of representatives, moreover, was compelled to act not by a majority but by states, and in the more important functions by the requirement that nine states must consent to the action.

Lacked Power
In actual authority the Congresses of the confederation were principally limited to the fields of external relations and the national defense. The fatal defect was of course the lack of power to raise revenue for the maintenance of the system, and our ancestors may be called at least optimistic, if they believed that the 13 sovereign republics would promptly pay over to the confederation even the small sums which were assessed against them for the annual maintenance of the Congress and its functions.

Furthermore, the effect of the existing methods of transportation and communication retarded the development of a truly national government far more greatly than we realize today and that was true throughout the first half century of our union. You have heard the phrase the "horse and buggy age."

We use it not in derogation of the men who had to spend weeks on the rough highways before they could establish a quorum of the Congress, not in implication of inferiority on the part of those who perforce could not visit their neighbors in other states and visualize at first hand the problems of the whole of an infant nation.

Jealousies
We use it rather to explain the tedious delays and the local antagonisms and jealousies which beset our early paths, and we use it perhaps, to remind our

Nations Envious
It is therefore in the spirit of our system that our elections are positive in their mandate, rather than passive in their acquiescence. Many other nations envy us the enthusiasm, the attacks, the wild overstatements, the falsehood intermingled gayly with the truth that marks our general elections, because they are promptly allowed by acquiescence in the result and a return to calmer waters as soon as the ballots are counted.

We celebrate the completion of the building of the Constitutional House. But one essential was lacking—for the house had to be made habitable. And even in the period of the building, those who put stone upon stone, those who voted to accept it from the hands of the builders knew that life within the house needed other things for its inhabitants. Without those things, indeed, they could never be secure in their tenure, happy in their toil and in their rest.

Bill of Rights

And so there came about that tacit understanding that to the Constitution would be added a bill of rights. Well and truly did the first Congress of the United States fulfill that first unwritten pledge, and the personal guarantees thus given to our individual citizens have established, we trust for all time, what has become as ingrained in our American natures as the free elective choice of our representatives itself.

In that bill of rights lies another vast chasm between our representative democracy and those reversions to personal rule which have characterized these recent years.

Jury trial—do the people of our own land ever stop to compare that blessed right of ours with some processes of trial and punishment which of late have incarnated the "justice" of the dark ages?

The taking of private property without due compensation—would we willingly abandon our security against that in the face of the events of recent years?

Homes Still Safe

The right to be safe against unwarrantable searches and seizures—read your newspapers and rejoice that our firesides and our households are still safe.

Freedom of assembly and petition the Congress for a redress of grievances—the mail and the telegraph bring daily proof to every Senator and every Representative that that right is at the height of an unrestrained popularity.

Freedom of speech—yes, and it too is unchecked, for never has there been so much of it on every side of every subject. It is indeed a freedom which because of the mildness of our laws of libel and slander, goes unchecked except by the good sense of the American people.

Cites Immunity

Any person is constitutionally entitled to criticize and call to account the highest and lowest in the land—save only in one exception. For be it noted that the constitution itself protects Senators and Representatives and provides that "for any speech or debate in either House they shall not be questioned in any other place." And that immunity is most carefully not extended to either the Chief Justice or the President.

Freedom of the press—I take it that no sensible man or woman believes that it has been curtailed or threatened or that it should be. The influence of the printed word will always depend on its veracity, and the nation can safely rely on the wise discrimination of a reading public which with the increase in the general education is able to sort truth from fiction. Representative democracy will never tolerate suppression of true news at the behest of government.

Freedom of religion—That essential of the rights of mankind everywhere goes back also to the origins of representative government. Where democracy is snuffed out there, too, the right to worship God in one's own way is circumscribed or abrogated. Shall we by our passiveness, by our silence, by assuming the attitude of the Levite who pulled his skirts together and passed by on the other side, lend encouragement to those who today persecute religion or deny it?

The answer to that is "No," just as in the days of the first Congress of the United States it was "No."

Not for freedom or religion alone does this nation contend by every peaceful means. We believe in the other freedoms of the bill of rights, the other freedoms that are inherent in the right of free choice by free men and women. That means democracy to us under the democracy exercised by representatives chosen by the people themselves.

Here in this great hall are assembled the present members of the government of the United States of America—the Congress, the Supreme Court and the executive. Our fathers rightly believed that this government which they set up would seek as a whole to act as a whole for the good governing of the nation. It is in the same spirit that we are met here, today, 150 years later, to carry on their task, May God continue to guide our steps.

TOWNSENDITES TO MEET
J. C. Stearns, popular Townsend speaker, will make an address before Townsend club No. 2, at Townsend hall, 409 West Fourth street, at 7:30 p. m. Monday, it was announced here today by Fred Nelson, president.

ATTORNEY ASPIRANT FILES HIS NOTICE

Sharpless Walker, Santa Ana lawyer, today filed nomination papers at the city hall, as a candidate for the office of city attorney. He accompanied the move with the following announcement:

"Since establishing my home in Santa Ana in 1925 I have not sought election to any public office until now. I have had experience in line with the duties of city attorney. For one term I was a city attorney, and for six years a county attorney, before coming to Orange county."

"If elected city attorney of Santa Ana, I am determined to promptly, diligently and efficiently attend to the city's legal work; to be courteous and respectful to all city officials, police officers, and city employees, as well as to all citizens having dealings with the city attorney's office; and to be available when needed."

Await Naming Of Vatican Secretary

stood to have received as his first visitor this morning Monsignor Dominic Tardini, under secretary of state for extraordinary affairs.

It was expected that the Pope would receive members of his family today and, if he had time, take his usual hour's walk in the Vatican gardens. Cardinals who are returning to their duties in other parts of Italy also were to bid him farewell until his coronation, set for March 12.

The Pope's first act after the conclave of Cardinals at which he was elected Thursday was to telephone his sister Giuseppina, wife of Prof. Ettore Mangarini. He was so overcome with emotion after talking to her that he was compelled to rest on a bed for a time.

Sister Hears News

The Pope's other sister, Miss Elisabetta Pacelli, heard the news of the election over the radio. She said she was not excited because she had felt he would be elected.

Prof. Mangarini and his wife have a daughter, Maria, a widow, who has three sons including five year old twins. Her husband, Enrico Caprilli, an engineer died on the island of Elba last July.

The Pope has also four nephews living in Rome. Three are sons of his brother Marquis Francesco Pacelli, who died recently. One of the sons, Carlo, is a councillor of Vatican City. The others, Marcantonio and Giulio, are members of the noble guard of the Papal gendarmes. The fourth, Arnaldo Mangarini, is an engineer.

It was disclosed today that Pope Pius XI had left to his successor the chalice and gold plated platen, or shallow dish, with which he celebrated mass during the 17 years of his reign. It was believed that the new Pope would use them.

It was said in semi-official quarters today that Pope Pius XII obtained 35 votes on the first ballot in the elective conclave. On the second, it was said he received 40 of the 42 votes necessary for a two-thirds majority, and on the third he received 61—all but his own. He voted for Cardinal Granito Pignatelli Di Belmonte, dean of the sacred college.

ARMY SERVICE OF SUPPLY DESCRIBED

The work of the U. S. Army Service of Supply, operating behind the lines, was reported at the regular meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars last night by Lieut. Col. Paul A. Hodapp, past commander of the San Diego V. F. W. post, and now a resident of Santa Ana.

Next Friday the ladies' auxiliary will hold a card party at the hall for the purpose of raising funds for the V. F. W. orphan home at Eaton Rapids, Mich. It was announced.

On March 24 a showing of the picture "The 13 Golden Cities", a Metropolitan Water District film, will be held. The public is invited to attend the showing.

Labor Troubles Closes Night Spots

HOLLYWOOD, March 4.—(UP)—Labor troubles today darkened night spots frequented by the members of the film company.

With the famous Coconut Grove at the Ambassador hotel already closed for a week, it was announced that the Biltmore Bowl and Biltmore Rendezvous at the Biltmore hotel will close on Wednesday. President Baron Long of the Biltmore hotel gave as the reason the "high wage scale demanded by the musician's union."

Freddie Martin's orchestra walked out in sympathy with 54 waiters and bartenders at the Coconut Grove last Saturday night. The hotel had refused to agree to the culinary and bartender's union as sole bargaining agent for the staff.

Farmers Resent "Red" Charges

COOLIDGE, Ariz., March 4.—(UP)—Sixty farming families who resented charges they were "Communists" because they had entered into a full-time cooperative agricultural project with the federal government today joined in pointing out the success of their efforts under "sympathetic" management.

Undergoing its first test in the nation here, the cooperative was likened to the Communistic and collective bargaining system of Soviet Russia.

"See for yourself," one of the farmers said, "we're not Communists—we're just people trying to make a go of this thing. Maybe we don't understand the social implications, but we're happy and satisfied."

Two Injured In County Accident

Two persons were injured at Manchester and La Palma avenues at 6:40 o'clock last night, when cars driven by David W. Townsend, 36, of 314 East 116th place, Los Angeles, and Otojoro Yanase, 66, of 1115 North Los Angeles street, Anaheim, were involved in a collision.

Suffering minor injuries were Betty D. Townsend and Yanase.

SMITH ISSUES PUBLIC APPEAL

Taking a stand against the proposed new registration of voters in California as a costly and harmful tampering with the present permanent registration law, County Clerk Basil J. Smith today appealed for united opposition of public and official to the move.

Clerk Smith addressed a letter to Chairman Willard Smith, of the county supervisors, urging at the local board pass a resolution against the proposed bill for a new registration, and also work for a similar stand by the state convention of supervisors in Sacramento next week.

Urge Legislators
The county clerk, who handles registration of voters in this county, also urged the general public to bring pressure on its representatives in the state legislature to oppose passage of such a bill.

Smith cited two grounds for objection to a complete new registration of voters. His letter to the supervisors said "The results would not justify the cost, which I estimate would be approximately $10,000 in Orange county. The purpose purportedly sought through a new registration can be achieved simply and less expensively by merely following procedure of the present law; to wit: purging the registration rolls at the end of general election years."

Cites Confusion
"The permanent registration law, as enacted in 1932, will be robbed of its purpose by this proposed bill, and confusion will result from constant changing of what is termed permanent registration."

Smith explained that, under present procedure, the purge at the end of general election years eliminates fully 95 per cent of duplications and inactive voters, at a moderate cost for clerical hire. Other objectives of a new registration are already obtainable in an equally inexpensive way, he said.

Apart from the question of economy, the proposed tampering with "permanent" registration would cause confusion and resentment, since the public has been led to believe that there is a system of permanent registration, said Smith, who cited past experience here to support his position. The result would be to "throw an obstacle in the way of keeping our citizens in possession of their voting franchise," he declared.

GIRL'S REPORT OF ATTACK IS PROBED

Sheriff's officers today were investigating the report of Miss Betty McDavid, 19, employee of the Yorba Linda library and resident of 118 Lakeview, Yorba Linda, that she was attacked by a tall, burly man while emptying a waste basket at the rear of the library at 9 p. m. yesterday.

Miss McDavid said the man grabbed her, tied a rope about her wrists, her own scarf over her mouth and took her inside of the library where he used an ice pick to scratch her legs and a hammer to strike her on her feet. She declared she kicked and fought him for 20 minutes when he suddenly ran and escaped, according to preliminary investigation of officers. An examination showed the scratches were not deep enough to draw blood and there were no marks indicating she had been injured in the reported struggle, according to the officers.

Modern Poets

By BEULAH MAY

In the highlands, in the country place,
Where the old men have rosy faces,
And the young fair maidens
Quiet eyes;
Where essential silence shills
and blesses
And for ever in the hill-recesses
Her more lovely music,
Broods and dies—

O to mount again where erst I
haunted;
Where the old red hills are bird-enchanted,
And the low green meadows
Bright with sward;
And when even dies, the million-tinted,
And the night has come and planets
glinted,
Lo, the valley hollow,
Lamp-bestarred!

O to dream, O to awake and wander
There, and with delight to take and render,
Through the trance of silence,
Quiet breath!
Lo! for there, among the flowers
and grasses
Only the mightier movement
sounds and passes:
Only wind and rivers,
Life and death.

100 JOIN IN GROWERS' TOUR

Approximately 100 ranchers of Orange county visited six cover crops plants on a tour held yesterday under the direction of Harold E. Wahlberg, county farm advisor.

First planting visited was at the George Shaffer ranch on North Main street, where crops of mustard, purple vetch and wedge pea were inspected.

Others Visited

At the Earl Campbell ranch on Fairview avenue the ranchers viewed mustard and malva, while at the place of L. B. Ward on East Seventeenth street plantings of melilotus indica were inspected. Oats and burr clover crops used on hillsides at the Fred Wilson property on Panorama Heights were next inspected, while at the Fred Chapman ranch on Newport road a demonstration of growing the ice plant as a cover crop on the "risers" was given. At the Suddaby property on Lemon Heights burr clover on the "risers" and yellow mustard on the terrace were viewed.

Talk Soil Erosion

R. B. Webb of the Soil Conservation service, told of the cover crop program in relation to soil erosion control. W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, and John Burnett, secretary of the Orange County Agricultural Conservation association, outlined the benefit payments made by the government to encourage growers to plant cover crops.

Functions of the cover crops as outlined by Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg were: To increase the organic content of the soil; to improve the physical condition of the soil; to help in the penetration of irrigation water; to increase bacterial activity in the soil and to control erosion.

1,000 On WPA To Lose Jobs

Approximately 1000 WPA workers of Southern California will lose their jobs today because they are aliens and ineligible for employment under the WPA, it was announced by Herbert C. All citizenship affidavits of WPA workers must be in the Los Angeles office of the WPA by Sunday. R. Kemp Keeper, supervisor of the timekeeping division of the WPA in Orange county, will keep his office open until 5 p. m. today to take last-minute affidavits of workers.

Previous to the campaign to eliminate aliens from the WPA in the Southland, it was estimated that 5000 aliens were on the payrolls, with an estimated 50 in this county. Definite figures are expected to be available by the middle of next week.

A proposal to change the name of Roosevelt highway, commonly called the Coast highway in Orange county, to the Pacific Coast highway, was presented to the county supervisors yesterday in a communication received by County Clerk Basil J. Smith from the street naming committee of the Los Angeles city planning commission.

The letter stated that approval of the proposed change of name already has been received from the cities of Torrance, Lomita and Wilmington, in Los Angeles county, and that the city of Long Beach now has the matter under consideration. The highway is known as State street in Long Beach.

BUILDING AND REMODELING NEWS

THE HOME DECORATOR

By ERNEST W. GOULD
Your Home is Your Castle

Whether you live in a cottage, a mansion, a little claspboard bungalow or a modern stucco ranch, that house is your stronghold and yours to make beautiful, livable and enjoyable. Your little domicile may not be as modern as Mrs. So-and-So's mansion across the way, but it can be just as attractive. There is always something to be said for simplicity, you know.

Just look at the clothes in the shops these days, look at the home furnishings—dishes, pots and pans, linen. The whole world seems one big riot of color. We Americans never have given the outside of our houses the same attention they need as the Bermudians or the Cubans do. Their rural sections are full of blue, pink, yellow, green and white dwellings that blend in beautifully with the brilliance of their flora and fauna. And the Dutch—they're never squeamish about color. We needn't be, either, because there are fine points on the market which our changeable seasons won't harm. They'll stay as true and unfaded as the day they were placed on the wood, or the brick or the stone.

A fresh coat of paint means a new life for that home of yours. It will take years off its life, will add immeasurably to its beauty and will protect it for years to come. It isn't just the coat of paint that counts, however. You've got to think hard and seriously about your choice of color. A light color—ivory, cream, silver, pearl gray, yellow, soft green—paints on the market which our changeable seasons won't harm. They'll stay as true and unfaded as the day they were placed on the wood, or the brick or the stone.

SEES BUILDING UPTREND IN S. A.

"This year will see greatly increased building activity in Santa Ana," Osborne Holmes, owner of Holmes Roofing company, declared today. "There is every indication of a nation-wide upswing. And Santa Ana incomes are above the average."

Construction work on the new office and warehouse at 1329-1331 South Main street began this week. This is the third time the Holmes Roofing company has enlarged its offices since starting in business here eight years ago.

Holmes said he is proud to own "the oldest 100 per cent Santa Ana-owned roofing firm. My payroll of some $20,000 a year is spent in this county."

Dealing in Pabco's western manufactured products exclusively, the concern will be open for business in its new location about May 1.

ORANGE COUNTY BUILDING, REMODELING NEWS

CITY URGED TO TELL WORLD OF GUARANTEED WATER SUPPLY

BY RAY GOODCELL

President of the Santa Ana Realty Board

Just because there is ample water to supply the present demand is no reason why there shouldn't be provision made by us to insure future generations a like amount.

At the rate of our underground of the right to Metropolitan water supply is diminishing, and for that matter has been diminishing ever since this section changed from an arid, barren area to a highly developed agricultural district, it may be the present generation that will need additional quantity. The rainfall of the next few years will determine the time more accurately.

On Probation

Right now we are on probation, as it were. Year after year we have seen records of our receding underground water channel, and in the face of these records have added additional acreage to our cultivated areas and increased our population in the cities. And if you think population doesn't count, try figuring 130 gallons a day for every man, woman, and child, and you'll find that an acre of populated city ground exceeds by far that of the irrigated farm land.

Some of our cities in this county have availed themselves

County Needs Service. Of course, it is not enough that our cities only be members of the Metropolitan Water district. The county as a whole will need this service, too. We shall need it because, as it appears now, the cities within our water basin now eligible for water will probably not purchase it even though they have the right to, at least until they have exhausted the water already available in our own basin. This seems to be the attitude because in purchasing would be paying an excessive rate in order to conserve underground water for those who refuse to join the district and pay their pro rata of the cost. That, at least, is the general thought.

City Shows Foresight. In the face of inevitable shortage, Santa Ana showed foresight, courage, and good business judgment in joining the district early, thereby distributing the costs over a longer period of years. Furthermore, with the guarantee of an adequate supply and the certainty of membership, Santa Ana has provided for an increased population of unlimited proportions.

With this knowledge, our realty boards, chamber of commerce, and other civic organizations who are members of the water district have at hand propaganda of no uncertain merit upon which to build and promote their respective cities.

Guaranteed Supply. We have the right to tell the world that here is the place to live, because we have provided for all who come to our city the assurance that they will never need to fear shortage of that most important necessity, water. Mindful of this it is well that we use this information, become inspired with its importance, promote because of it, compare, if necessary, to compete with districts not so fortunate, and in so doing add to our population, thereby increasing our business, our incomes, and our property values to the extent that the cost of the water will be negligible in comparison to the benefits derived from it. It's about time that Santa Ana prospered from the investment it made in a guaranteed water supply.

BUILDING BREVITIES

Mineral wool is the most widely used form of modern fill insulation in the world.

The first asphalt strip shingle—the most widely used roof shingle—was suggested by the notched cardboard strip used in egg boxes. It was first made about 1909.

More than 90 per cent of all the mineral wool used in this country is made in 27 plants in 12 states.

Asphalt shingles are surfaced with crushed mineral granules colored with baked-on pigments. These give the asphalt shingle its color and add to its fire-resistance.

Besides insulating 90,000 homes a year against both heat and cold, mineral wool is also used to protect bakery ovens, high pressure boilers, airlines, underground steam mains and automobiles.

OR ON THEIR STOMACHS

Though Americans prefer to roof their homes with asphalt shingles, the natives of Burma live in houses without any roofs, because of the superstition that roofs are offensive to their gods. When it rains, they sleep under trees.

ROUGH ON RATS

A veterinary college in Ithaca, N. Y., has found that rats die after eating mineral wool insulation. The use of mineral wool in side walls and second floor ceiling of a house frequently rids it of mice and other rodents.

ATTIC VENTILATION

"Ventilating louvers should be provided for all enclosed areas under roofs, such as in attics and over porches," the Practical Builder reports in a recent issue. "Circulation of air in these spaces will make the house more comfortable and avoid possible rotting of the roof timbers and decking."

WOOL FROM MINERAL

Ten minerals, including crushed limestone, slag and silica, are used in the manufacture of mineral wool home insulation. The minerals are first melted, then poured through a jet of steam which converts the molten mass into fluffy, fireproof fibres.

THAT'S PRETTY HOT

Mineral wool insulation is the only home insulation ever to receive a fire endurance rating from the National Bureau of Standards. To obtain such a rating, the material when installed in a wood stud and plaster partition had to withstand a temperature of 1700 degrees for over one hour.

SALE OF OIL LEASES HALTED

Declaring the sale of New Mexico oil leases without submission to the state real estate commissioner to be a violation of law, Superior Judge Emmet H. Wilson has issued a permanent injunction against oil lease operators in Los Angeles.

Commissioner In Suit

Suit was brought by J. Mortimer Clark, state real estate commissioner, against Rolph Gallinger and his agents to prevent the sale of these oil leases until such time as they had been investigated and reported upon by the division of real estate. The commissioner was represented by Warner I. Praul, deputy attorney general. Gallinger, who terms himself a wholesaler of these leases to various California agents is enjoined from further sales until he complies with the sub-division provisions of the California real estate act, the constitutionality of which was recently upheld by the California supreme court, Clark said.

The real estate commissioner declared that hundreds of thousands of acres of wildcat New Mexico leases are being sold to the people of California annually, a business which runs into tremendous figures. Absolutely no claims are made for the oil possibilities of these leased lands by the state of New Mexico and leases in the most unprobable areas will be issued to anyone upon request, Clark said.

Purpose of the subdivision law is to make available to California purchasers the results of an investigation by the division of real estate. Impartial and unbiased reports are issued by the division upon all subdivision projects submitted, which are made available to the investing public, the commissioner stated.

BREA GETS $70,000 FOR POST OFFICE

BREA, March 4.—Brea is one of three Orange county towns which has been granted money by the federal government for the purpose of constructing a new post office. Brea was given a grant of $70,000.

The late L. A. Hogue, postmaster who died recently, is responsible for getting this grant as he kept in constant touch with Harry Sheppard, congressional representative from this district.

It is not known as yet where the new structure will be located, but it is believed that it will not be on the main highway, Pomona avenue.

The present site of the post office is the Craig building in the center of the main block of Pomona avenue. It has been in this building for almost 20 years.

OPTIMISTIC OVER NEW SUBDIVISION

Enthusiasm for the newest subdivision in Santa Ana was seen today by Elmer Liechti, prominent Orange county subdivider, who recently announced a low-cost housing project on the old Rancho de Santa Ana property, in the southwest sector of Santa Ana. During the past week hundred from Santa Ana and Orange county visited the sub-division and open for inspection at all times.

expressed an interest in the new low-cost housing project, Liechti said.

Price Range of $2950

More than 150 lots located in the southwest section of Santa Ana are included in the Liechti tract and plans for the construction of homes in the price range of $2950 or more are contemplated for the section.

Liechti has recently completed transactions in Huntington Beach and other sections of Orange county with his low-cost type of dwelling and has homes in various stages of construction at Huntington Beach. These homes are

TROJANS SHARE LEAD AS BEARS LOSE TO CARDS

BERKELEY—(UP)—Smartering under a surprise 39-35 trouncing, California's "skyscraper" basketball club goes against Stanford again tonight in a game that may give the Bears the championship of the Southern division.

It also may see California dumped out of the title race altogether or may result in the necessity of a play-off with U. S. C. to determine which squad will meet Oregon for the coast championship.

Playing ragged ball, the tall Californians last night lost to a close-checking Stanford squad which saw Capt. Phil Zonne play his best game of the season, making 13 points.

As the Bears lost, U.S.C. won against U.C.L.A. in Los Angeles, throwing the Bears and Trojans into a tie, with each having one more conference game to play. If both teams won or lost their games tonight a playoff will be needed. If one wins and the other loses, the championship will be decided.

California conceivably should have beaten Stanford last night—but the score came out the wrong way. The game opened with the Bears taking an early lead in a whirlwind opening minute in which nine points were scored by the two teams. As the pace tightened, California lost its cockiness, the underdog Stanfordites went into an early lead which was threatened several times but never taken away from them.

At half-time Stanford led 17-12 on the strength of bounce passes which worked effectively against their taller opponents and the scoring of Zonne and Center Harlan Copey.

Out for business in the second half, the Bears pressed hard. Once they came within three points of Stanford and in the last few minutes came within two points of tying before Stanford pulled away before $5000 surprised spectators.

Zonne took high point honors. Copey and Bill Ogilvie, California center, trailed him with 10 each.

In a preliminary the Stanford Frosh defeated the Cal Frosh, 34-30.

TROJANS EXTENDED TO BEAT BRUINS

LOS ANGELES—(UP)—Southern California came from behind and popped in 15 straight points last night to smother a valiant attempt of the U.C.L.A. basketball team to present a victory to its retiring Coach "Caddy" Works.

The Trojans' victory, 43-35, was their 27th consecutive win over the Bruins, and the 26th straight conference loss for the latter.

For 30 minutes the battling Bruins had the game. Led by an inspired Bob Calkins, they gained a 4-0 lead in the first two minutes and were ahead 20-19 at half time. Going into the second period they widened the lead to 27-21, then 29-24, before the Trojans started to click. Then S. C. began popping in baskets. With only 10 minutes to play, they took the game away and jumped to 39-29 before the bewildered Bruins slowed them up.

Calkins was high with 15 points. Trojan Frosh had trouble, too, but squeaked through 34-33 with their 18th consecutive triumph over the Bruin Frosh.

SANTA ANA GOLFERS PLAY AT VICTORIA

At full strength with the return of Club Champion Jack Robertson, Santa Ana's golf team goes to the Victoria Country club at Riverside tomorrow for its third Southern California league match. Santa Ana rolled up a decisive margin in the first-half of the series here last Sunday, totaling 16 1/2 points to 4 1/2, but on their own links the Victorians figure to have the advantage. Captain G. C. Ross hopes his Santa Anans can get an even break.

Dr. Ross said the Santa Ana lineup would be: Robertson and Dick Ewert, No. 1; "Chuck" Denio and C. D. Holmes Jr., No. 2; George Baker and Ed Holmes Jr., No. 3; L. D. Coffing and L. W. Bemis, No. 4; A. W. Robinson and E. H. Guthrie, No. 5; Homer Robinson and Ben Manker, No. 6; F. E. Farnsworth and J. K. McDonald, No. 7.

Modesto Cinches Jaysee Title

MODESTO.—(UP)—The Modesto basketball team acquired the Northern California Junior College conference championship for the third consecutive year today by virtue of a 56-43 victory over Marin Junior college of Kentfield, the second victory in a play-off series.

AT THE RACE TRACKS

By TOM GWYNNE (Register Track Correspondent)

Cravat, Kayak II and Specify! That's the way I like them this afternoon in the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap. This prediction goes, rain or shine, mud or dry. Even another "big wind" won't stop the stretch run of Cravat. He's the solid "dope" horse at a mile-and-a-quarter. He has class, he's fit, and you simply can't get away from him. If you veer to the Pampas for a look at Kayak, one significant fact strikes you—he has never been farther than a mile and a sixteenth. He may win, he's certainly a brilliant prospect, but in order to pick him, you must guess about his routing ability. Today might establish him as a router and perhaps a champion, but until he pokes his nose in front at the finish, he's an unknown quantity at a mile and a quarter.

Specify Doesn't Like Route
Suppose you select Specify to win. Here again, you run into almost the same thing. He's gone a mile and a quarter, but he has not shown that it's his best distance. He beat High Strike at Hollywood in 2:04 1/2—slow time. Then he ran second to Seabiscuit in the Hollywood Gold Cup—but the race, from a time standpoint, was the worst Seabiscuit ever won. The last quarter was run in :27, and that's almost trotting horse time. Specify was groggy the last sixteenth, and Seabiscuit, who didn't like the cuppy footing, merely ran down a tired horse. No horse can run the last quarter today in :27 and win the $100,000. It simply isn't in the cards.

Whichever a ball of fire, you think? But delve into the dope and you can't find him winning at a mile and a quarter. A mile and an eighth, I think, is his limit.

Carl Hubbell Tells Of Ailing Left Arm

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY (Copyright 1939 by United Press)

HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—Carl Hubbell revealed today that no one knows whether his left arm will ever again stand the strain of firing a screwball down the alley.

The great New York Giant pitcher, unable to stand the pain of an aching elbow any longer, was operated on by Dr. J. Spencer Speed in Memphis last August. From a medical standpoint the operation was highly successful but no one knows whether Hubbell again will be a great pitcher. The Giants' fate, as well as Hubbell's, hinges on the answer.

"My arm feels all right," Hubbell said. "But I haven't tested it yet and probably won't for weeks. I've tossed a few light ones since I've been here and felt no pain but that doesn't indicate anything. I won't know the answer until I cut loose and put something on the ball."

Recalls Day Truth Dawned
"King Carl" recalled the day he knew he couldn't throw another ball until something was done to relieve the pain in his arm.

"It was about the middle of August last year and I was pitching against Brooklyn," he said. "I was wild and in trouble every inning. Finally I was taken out in the fifth. The throbbing and pain in my elbow was just like a toothache. As I walked from the mound to the clubhouse, I made up my mind I'd have my arm operated on. I knew I couldn't throw another ball the way my arm pained. I tossed and rolled in bed until three or four o'clock that morning because the pain was so bad."

Hubbell's trouble didn't come overnight. He knew as far back as two or three years ago that his arm was giving out on him, and he knew what was causing it. "I had by arm x-rayed at the limit. He would have some sort of a chance to "steal" the race if Specify doesn't happen to break, but even if that did occur, there still is Kayak, gifted with speed, on the outside, free of trouble, and certain of a good running position. Whichever won't get very far in front of him.

Today, another popular steed in the race with many new followers, is not a proved mile and a quarter horse. In fact, he only went a mile and a quarter once, and that's when he first went wrong in the 1935 Kentucky Derby. He ran a good, game second to Whichever at a mile and an eighth last Saturday, but they are paying off on the extra eighth this afternoon.

Gosum, who goes coupled in the betting with Today, is a solid router, although a plodding one. He holds a chance to land in the money, as I think he could easily catch the speed stopping in the last sixteenth.

They are the only one I think have a winning chance on a fast track, provided the race is truly run.

If mud comes, and the weather wizard, Prof. Irving Krick, says it will clear this afternoon, Jacola rates some sort of a chance, although I think she's outweighed with 119 pounds. War Minstrel is a fine off-track horse, but his recent fast track form suggests that he isn't at tops. Thanksgiving, also a fine mudder, does not seem quite at his best. Sortado, who goes coupled with Kayak, has trained sensationally in mud, and could be a possibility.

Still, Cravat, Kayak II and Specify are topnotch mudders, and I think they will stand off the others in any event. You simply can't get away from Cravat. His campaign has been timed perfectly. His only start here was excellent. He made up 11 lengths in the stretch and was running over his field at the end last Saturday. He has trained well since then. He will be ridden by Alfred Robertson, a first class jockey. He drew No. 12 post position, and Robertson should be able to keep him clear of trouble.

Charges Through Stretch
But best of all, Cravat charges through the stretch—and remember, no horse has ever set the pace and won the Santa Anita. From the day that Azucar came from the clouds five years ago in the first 100 grandeur, the winners have come from behind. Time Supply came from off the pace. Rosemont did likewise, and Stagehand slipped through almost the whole field to battle it out through the stretch and beat Seabiscuit.

Olimpo and Amor Brujo are "mud only" starters. They will be withdrawn if the track is fast. Melodist is entered in another race which suits him better. Gosum will be scratched in event of mud, and Main Man probably will be withdrawn in mud. Trainers have until 45 minutes before the race to scratch.

And the story will be finished at 4:12 this afternoon.

L. BEACH POLY OUSTS TILLERS FROM PLAYOFFS

Tustin's dream of another Southern California basketball championship was blown to bits last night as a close-guarding Long Beach Poly five sent the Farmers down to a 31-24 defeat in the Huntington Beach gym. The game was a second round C. I. F. play-off.

Nearly 30 personal fouls, slapped on the two squads by eagle-eyed officials, cost the Tillers a possible victory. Walt Linker, Hal Lilley and Ev Winkler, the Farmer point-making trio left the game early in the fourth period on personals.

A capacity crowd watched the Farmers command the situation throughout for three quarters, matching Poly basket for basket. The Farmers led at the quarter 7-5, at the half, 13-12, only to let the Rabbits close the gap and lead 21-20 at the three-quarter mark.

Walt Linker's final basket gave the Farmers the lead again as the fourth period opened. The Tustin star went out on fouls just after this, however, and the Farmers began dropping behind. After Lilley and Winkler left by the same route, the game turned into a one-sided match.

Tustin might have won had it capitalized on its free throws. The Farmers made but 4 out of 12 during the first three quarters. Long Beach cashed in on seven out of its dozen shots.

Walt Linker turned in one of the finest games of his four-year career as a Farmer regular, dropping in 11 points for high scoring honors and keeping the Farmer offense moving with his clever floor play.

Long Beach presented a fast-breaking, smooth passing five that guarded better than many of Tustin's earlier opponents. Leading the Rabbits were Howard at guard with 7 points and lanky Cecil, forward, who dropped in 6 points on tip-ins.

The loss was only Tustin's second defeat in play-off, league, or tournament play in three full seasons. Lineups:

ARMSTRONG FIGHTS PACHO IN HAVANA

HAVANA—(UP)—Henry Armstrong defends his welterweight title tonight against a rugged Mexican veteran named Bobby Pacheco, and, strangely, the boys along the Prado and in Sloppy Joe's were offering odds of better than 8 to 5 that Henry leaves the ring still champion.

The local sportsmen haven't seen a world championship fight since Jess Willard won the heavyweight title by knocking out Jack Johnson back in 1915 and, although they lay their pesos every day on such things as cock fights and lotteries, they apparently haven't enough confidence in Mr. Armstrong to make him the overwhelming favorite he should be.

The experts, many of whom have never seen this human cyclone in action, base the short odds on three things—Pacheco, at 147, will outweigh Henry about 12 pounds; Armstrong appeared listless in his final workout Thursday, and the tropical heat might prove too much for the Los Angeles Negro if the fight lasts the full distance of 15 rounds.

NEW BRAUNFELS Tex.—"Chuck" Klein and "Pinkie" Whitney belted out the first homers of the season for the Philadelphia Phillies during the first batting and fielding practice.

LAKELAND Fla.—Manager Del Baker looked forward to having his full Detroit Tiger squad in camp by Tuesday as he continued fielding and batting drills today. "Boots" Poffball for either team this season, fencer, who had been missing, notified Baker that he was kept by business matters at his home in Williamsport, Md.

NEW ORLEANS—Manager Oscar Vitt of the Cleveland Indians had this to say today of Ray Mack, rookie infielder: "That boy covers more ground than the San Francisco fair." Bob Feller hasn't touched a baseball yet. He runs in the outfield and does setting up exercises.

VISALIA—The San Francisco Seals arrive here from their Hanford training quarters today to meet the Oakland Oaks in an exhibition game—the first taste of competitive baseball for either team this year. Verne Johnson, former Stanford hurling star, starts on the mound for the Oaks. Smead Jolley, who reported late yesterday to Manager Johnny Vergez, will hold down his outfield post.

Successful the operation was. I know that any operation takes something away from you but I can't see how my arm can be any worse than it was last year." Hubbell moved to Fort Worth, Tex., last winter and is president of the Hubbell Production Co., which deals in oil. He left Oklahoma because that state wanted him to pay income tax there as well as in New York state.

BY HARRY GRAYSON (NEA Service Sports Editor)

The famous San Francisco Seals are depending upon the third DiMaggio to keep them one step ahead of the sheriff.

It used to be that huge sums—$125,000 for Willie Kamm, $75,000 for Jimmy O'Connell, etc.—received by the Seals from major league clubs for talent was all soft velvet, but that was some time before Dr. Charles Henry Strub decided to get into a new racket.

Dr. Strub may be recalled as the demon dentist who was suffering from the shorts when he went to Los Angeles and financed the Santa Anita race track, which so quickly turned out to be vastly more fabulous than any of his diamond transactions.

Today the sheriff, holding a bank mortgage on the new San Francisco park, is taking the identical stance he took last summer when he yanked the young shortstop, Bill Lillard, off the property and forced his immediate sale to the Philadelphia Athletics, who needed the boy much worse than did the Seals, by the way.

The San Francisco club never did get around to selling Vince DiMaggio, because he couldn't hit No-Hit Farr.

It had to dispose of the phenomenal Joe at a bargain rate because the Yankees were forced to gamble on what might have turned out to be a trick knee, and the Seals required players as part payment.

HITTING ONLY OBSTACLE IN DI MAGGIO'S PATH

Charley Graham, long end of the playing end of the San Francisco outfit, always has believed that Joe DiMaggio went to New York for one-third of what he was worth at the time.

Frankly, Graham expects to get at least part of the difference back with Dominic DiMaggio, who is offered as saleable material this year.

The youngest DiMaggio's uncommon facility and grace have already attracted many scouts. The chinks in little Dominic's armor are glasses and size, or lack of the latter. But Chick Hafey, among others, were speculators, and the Waners, among others, were . . . and are . . . mere pin feathers.

Let Dominic, a nifty outfielder, swat around 320 and he'll bring more than enough to shoo the sheriff away from the Seals' door. The Seals have another bright prospect in Third Baseman Ernie Raimondi, but he seems to be bait for 1940 fishing.

Since the affluent Dr. Strub 17 years ago convinced the late John McGraw that Jimmy O'Connell was worth $75,000, the Seals have sold 14 others and lost two by draft to the big show, a record, no doubt, without parallel in baseball.

EVERY STAR SOLD HAS STUCK FOR TIME

The talent adds up to nearly a million.

And a Seal has yet to fail to stick . . . for a time at least. Most of them turned out to be standouts.

In addition to O'Connell, Kamm, Joe DiMaggio, and Lillard, the Seals sold Jimmy Caveney, Frank Crosetti, Hal Rhyne, and Gus Suhr, infielders; Paul Waner, Augie Galan, Earl Averill, Roy Johnson, Smead Jolley, and Joe Marty, outfielders, and Johnny Couch and Vernon Gomez, pitchers. Curt Davis and Frank O'Doul, now manager of the club, were drafted, the latter twice.

The Seals never have peddled a catcher, which is something in the way of evidence that the acute shortage of worthwhile backstop material started to develop way back when.

Too Bad Kayak! Mac Thinks You'll Win

BY HENRY McLEMORE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

ARCADIA—Idiot the First picks Kayak the Second. In those seven words, you have my choice in today's fifth running of the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap.

If you idea of happiness is a corner room with cross ventilation in the poorhouse, then don't fail to follow me. When it comes to selecting winners I rush in where even angels wearing asbestos boots and firemen's helmets wouldn't dare to tread. For years my choices have been as deadly to the bankroll of the nation as the swatter is to the fly, and to ride with me is the same as thumbing a ride from a fellow going over the falls in a barrel.

Kayak the Second is a South American product whose races have been as hot and cold as bathroom faucets. One day he is unbeatable, the next Black Beauty, with Oliver Hardy in the saddle, could spot him ten lengths. Now that my curse is upon him he is almost a cinch to rise to his worst effort.

He probably will get off last and steadily improve his hold on that position throughout.

Of course, he may double-cross me and come through with a duplicate of the race he ran here two weeks ago, and if he does we'll be rich and worthless.

In picking Kayak II also get Sortado, his stablemate, and a bet on one is also a bet on the other. In other words, my backers get a chance to lose twice. This Sortado, who looks so much like a mule that he would fool even a mule, may turn out to be the best thing in the race. Last year he burned up the Pampas tracks, winning everything in sight. He cost Mr. C. S. Howard $40,000 and everyone who knew his record said Howard had made a great buy.

That was before he ran here, however. In his first race, a sprint, he couldn't keep up. In his second, a distance go, he couldn't hang on. That makes him a doubtful article in the Handicap, because when you go out and shoot for $100,000 you have to have everything—speed, stamina and courage. But his record wasn't made on luck, and maybe today he'll prove it.

SCRATCH TWO 'MUD HORSES' FROM BIG RACE

SANTA ANITA PARK—(UP)—The field for the fifth running of the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap today was reduced to 16 horses with the withdrawal of Bing Crosby's Olimpo and the Kozinsky brothers' Amor Brujo, both South American horses.

Both were named through the entry box yesterday in hope that unsettled weather predicted for the week-end would arrive prior to the race. But by midmorning a bright sun was shining and the possibilities of a sudden change in weather were remote.

A crowd that may grow to 70,000 racing fans by post-time for the rich event (4:12 p. m.), began arriving at the palatial Santa Anita plant before noon.

From all over the state and nation they came—by auto, rail and plane. Butcher and baker, millionaire and movie star, they were drawn alike by the strongest field of thoroughbreds training in the west and by what chamber of commerce officials were delighted to call a typical Southern California winter day.

For a week the weather prophets have smelled rain, but there wasn't so much as a threatening cloud. The skies were bright blue. A warm sun beamed on millions of flowers in the infield and dried the track crisp and fast. Officials said that by post-time 7000 more customers than came last year—a record of 63,000—would be inside the gates, and that a pari-mutuel handle of $1,250,000 was anticipated.

The field of 16 was surprisingly large but almost perfectly balanced. The great Seabiscuit, a prohibitive future book choice until he broke down two weeks ago, was just another horse in his stable while the public and the experts alike turned to his stablemates, the Charles S. Howard entry of Kayak II and Sortado, as the morning line choice.

Both importations from the Argentine, they were listed as an entry at 3 to 1. Cravat was liked second best, at 7-2.

SAINTS TIE FOR 2ND AT RELAY CARNIVAL

Cutting loose with one of the strongest squads of sprinters ever seen at the meet, Compton high school completely dominated the tenth annual Brea-Olinda Relay Carnival yesterday. Taking six first places out of nine, Compton totaled 36 points. Santa Ana, Covina and Excelsior tied for second with 9.

The Saints made their best showing in the four-man half-mile, placing about a yard behind Compton in 1 min. 32.4 sec. Santa Ana and Compton ran one-two in this relay in most of the big meets last season. Compton won at the Southern California championships but Santa Ana turned the tables at the State meet in Hollister.

Santa Ana also finished second in the eight-man mile although losing much ground on the fifth lap when Sophomore Stanley Jiles dropped the baton. Another dropped baton, involving Leo Mader and Howard Elliott, also cost the Saints all chance in the eight-man half, an event they were leading at the time of the mishap.

Compton and Santa Ana revive their sprint rivalry at Compton in a dual meet March 28.

Eight-man mile—Compton, Santa Ana, Excelsior, Orange. Time, 3m. 6.4s. (New meet record).

Four-man two-mile—Redlands, Compton, Excelsior, Orange. Time 8m. 47.6s.

Four-man 440—Compton, Santa Ana, Covina, Chaffey. Time 43.9s. (New meet record).

Medley—Compton, El Monte, Montebello, Anaheim. Time 3m. 35s.

Shuttle hurdles—Compton, Chaffey, Colton, Montebello. Time 56.4s.

Eight-man 880—Compton, Covina, Anaheim, Orange. Time 1m. 29.2s. (New meet record).

Four-man 880—Compton, Santa Ana, Covina, Chaffey. Time 1m. 32.4s.

Four-man medley—Montebello, Redlands, Covina, El Monte. Time 8m. 22.5s.

Four-man mile—Excelsior, Compton, Tustin, Downey. Time 3m. 39.8s. (New meet record).

County Completes $650,000 Flood Control Works

INSPECTION MADE OF RIVER PROJECT

ANAHEIM, March 4.—All Northern Orange county heaved a high of relief today, content in the knowledge "dat ol' debil river" was under control at last. The county's completed $650,000 flood control works on the Santa Ana river were given a formal preview yesterday by a caravan of some 40 county and city leaders, directed by Supervisor Harry D. Riley, and Inspector Paul Pratt from the county flood control office.

From above the Yorba bridge to below the Chapman street bridge at the county hospital the caravan viewed an unbroken line of levees and double-enclosed wire fencing that stretch 22 miles from the hills to the sea, a guarantee that the county will not again suffer a catastrophe such as staggered it last March.

Permanent Part
Designed as a permanent part of the county's flood control program, the river in its present condition is capable of caring for 20,000 second feet of runoff, as much as ever will be leased from Prado dam under the worst flood conditions. Before start of the levee project, the river's capacity was 12,000 second feet.

Supervisor Riley also announced that government engineers had estimated that the Prado works will have reached a sufficient height by fall, to care for any runoff.

Particularly to benefit from the works, Riley said, will be the communities of Atwood, Yorba, Buena Park, Stanton, Cypress and Los Alamitos, where the only serious damage ever inflicted has come when the river got out of control.

Only work in the rebuilding program that remains still to be done, Riley and Pratt said, is the placing of brush in the 48-foot cesses in the fence, a supplementary project that was halted for lack of money.

Brush Placed
A total of 16,000 lineal feet of brush already has been placed, Pratt said, at a cost of $2 per lineal foot. More than 114,000 lineal feet of brushing is involved in the entire project.

A plan is under way at present, Riley explained, under which the levees would be made a controllable county dump ground, for non-inflammable trash and other refuse. This material would be placed in the fence instead of the expensive brush, where it would act as a deterrent to the water, and a collector for silt, building up the levee walls through future years.

Included in the materials used in construction of levees and fencing is approximately 41,000 cubic yards of earth and silt, weighing 80,000 tons; 76,000 lineal feet of 30-foot steel rails, sunk 22 feet into the earth; 33,400 lineal feet of 20-foot pipe, sunk to an average depth of 12 feet; 30,324 feet of outside fencing material; 3558 lineal feet of additional seven-foot fencing, and 2928 feet of cross fencing.

Minimum height of the wire fencing is nine feet, ranging upward to height of 13½ feet at some spots, depending on vagaries in the contour of the river bottom.

The channel width has been expanded to 1200 feet between the Yorba and Chapman avenue bridges, Riley explained, and water spreading activities have been correlated to force the river into this channel space at all times when there is an excessive flow.

More than $100,000 of the total cost of the works was spent last spring during and immediately after the flood, when it was necessary to ally still existing danger. In August the work was re-commenced, with an appropriation of state and county funds amounting to approximately $140,000. The last allocation, with which the work was completed, amounted to approximately $400,000.

Riley answered criticisms that Garden Grove and some adjacent areas had been left unprotected, when he explained that levees in that area had not been destroyed during the flood, and consequently could not be replaced in this project.

State funds, he pointed out, were available only for reconstruction work, and not for new construction.

It is the county's intention, he said, to rebuild the levees in question, "as soon as money is available."

FINED IN CITY COURT

Two speeders and two boulevard stop violators were fined by City Judge J. G. Mitchell yesterday. The speeders, Dean Benton, Hollywood, and Harold Veek, Orange, were fined $5 and $6, respectively, while the other two, Raymond Barnes, Route 1, Santa Ana, and Grace White, Route 2, Orange, were fined $5 each.

His quick action undoubtedly saved the house from probable total destruction.

YOUTH NABBED IN BURGLARY SERIES

Arrested by Santa Ana police in the act of burglarizing the S. F. Zornes service station at 1304 West Fifth street, last night, according to allegations, an 18-year-old Santa Ana boy cleared up more than a half dozen local burglaries and petty thefts with a confession, officers said.

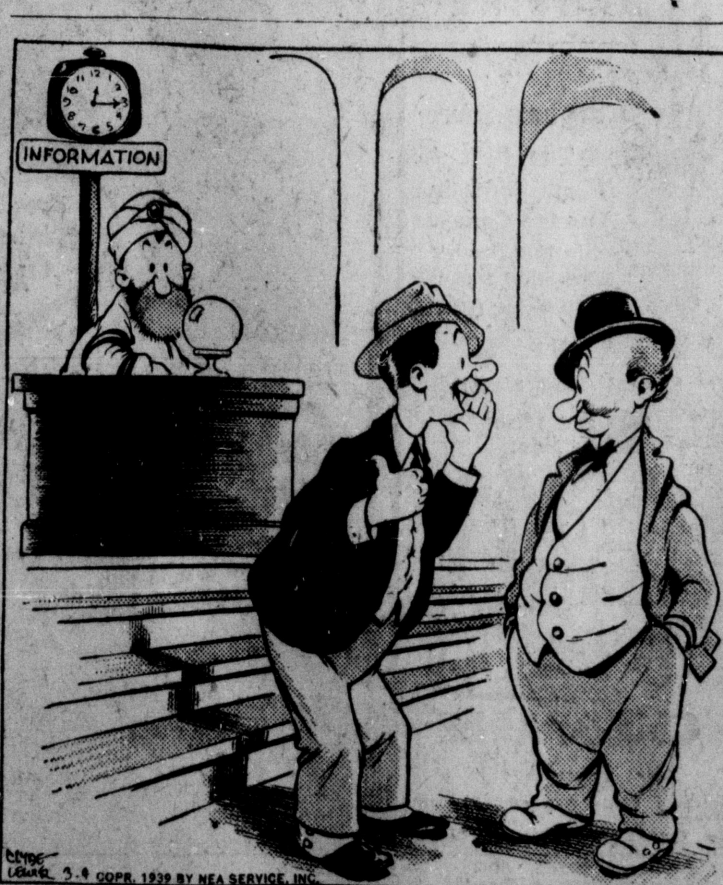

The youth said he was just leaving the service station with loot when a car passed and he "ducked" back inside, then came out again immediately afterward, it was reported. Just as he left the second time, Officers W. E. B. Sherwood and A. F. Moulton drove by in a radio patrol car, saw him and made the arrest. In the boy's pockets were 11 cans of pipe tobacco and 18 packages of Wheat Straw cigarette papers.

The boy assertedly confessed he burglarized the beauty shop of Mrs. L. R. Kasper, 1220 North Bristol, February 23, after smashing a window with a rock, and obtained 25 cents and some keys; that he broke into the Jack Faulner service station, 433 West Third, February 21, obtaining a $2 electric clock, that he has obtained food-stuffs in other burglaries by use of a curved-handle cane with which to haul the food from counters through iron-grating doors, and numerous petty thefts. He was arrested at 2 a. m. today. In his possession were tools of a professional burglar, police declared, and included gloves, a flashlight with the lens taped over so that a "pin-point" of light could be emitted, .22 calibre revolver containing a dum-dum bullet, glass cutter and putty-remover implement.

LANTERNS MISSING

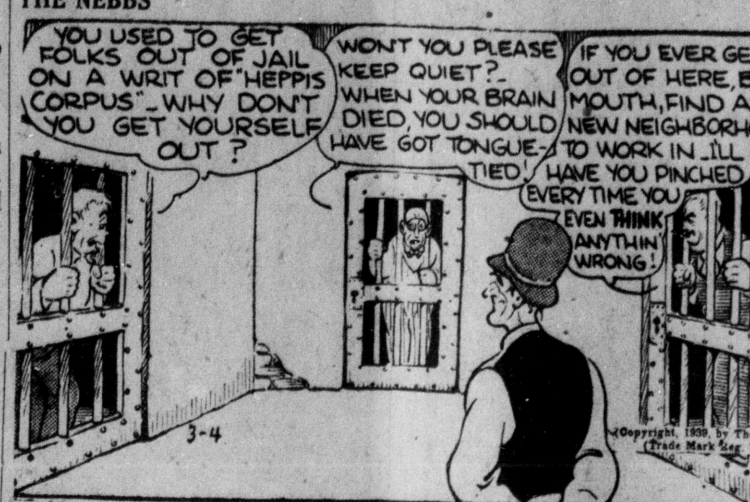

H. L. Catherman, of 2066 Standard street, who was reported yesterday to have thought lanterns were being stolen when they were removed from South Main street and Anahurst Thursday night, declared today he did not think a thief was at work. He said he merely reported to police the lanterns were being taken, presumably for repair.

ELECTRIC CODE CAUSES FUROR

Electrical circles of Santa Ana today were in a tumult as charges and counter charges were being hurled as the result of a proposed change in the present city electrical ordinance governing electrical permits, by the Electrical Contractors association.

At a meeting yesterday afternoon in the city council chambers the proposed ordinance was summarized and changes recommended by officials of the Southern California Edison company.

Chief bone of contention between the contractors and the utility officials is the type of conduit that would be permitted for use and the percentage of electric load that will be permissible with a minimum of wiring.

The contractors feel that wiring should be installed that would be capable of carrying the load of electricity if every light and electrical appliance in the house were in use at one time. The Edison officials are of the opinion that 80 per cent of the total possible current consumption is a safe margin of operation.

Allison Honer, who prefaced his remarks at the meeting with the statement that he was interested in having safe wiring as cheaply as possible, branded the report yesterday that the electrical contractors were attempting a "racket" as an "infamous and cowardly lie."

Cal Gilbert, spokesman for the contractors, held that the proposed ordinance would in many instances save the home builder on the installation of wiring and admitted that an increased cost of 50 cents to $1.50 might come as a result of more expensive wiring equipment.

A. L. Kreuger, Edison company official, said his recommendations for changes in the proposed ordinance were based on the types of conduit permitted as a minimum by the National Electrical Code and the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Jerry Price, county electrical inspector, contributed the information that "the National Code is not an authority and is designed to be a minimum standard for fire protection and not personal hazard."

Following a long discussion of the pros and cons of the proposed ordinance, it was decided by the group to have copies of the recommendations of the Edison company distributed to all electrical contractors in the city and later to have a meeting of interested parties to be called by the electrical code committee of the Orange County Builders Exchange.

HEARINGS ON MILK PRICES CONCLUDED

Hearings for establishing minimum fluid milk prices in Orange county were concluded today at the Farm Bureau building, with W. H. Wright, of Los Angeles, representative of the state director of agriculture, presiding.

Yesterday's hearing was devoted to the producer prices, while today was taken up with the proposed resale prices. Approximately 50 dairymen were present today, including Ned Clinton, vice president of the Central Sales agency, of Los Angeles, and Elmer Ritner, chairman of the dairy department of the farm bureau.

E. H. Vehlow, representative of the state department of agriculture, presented the findings of the department as regards to the cost of production and selling milk in Orange county.

An electrical transcription of the proceedings of the two days will be sent to Sacramento to be studied by officials.

Alarm Thwarts Would-Be Thieves

A burglar alarm at the Safeway store, Main and El Portal, probably saved the store from being looted last night, according to Santa Ana police. Don Harrison, service station attendant, heard the alarm ringing, found where burglars had attempted to gain entrance and stood guard until police arrived. An auger had been used repeatedly to create a large hole near the door latch at the store. While trying to loosen the second latch on the door, the burglars set off the alarm and fled.

Dynamic Speaker

Evangelist Adalaide D. Mills, above, is one of two dynamic speakers who will begin a week's engagement at the Four Square Gospel church with tomorrow's beginning service in the morning. The public is invited to attend all services, the Rev. W. C. Parham said.

SERIES OF REVIVAL SERVICES PLANNED

A series of revival services is scheduled to begin tomorrow at the Four Square Gospel church, Fairview and Sycamore streets, with Evangelists Adalaide Mills and Mary Alice Bridges of Arizona in charge. Rev. W. C. Parham, pastor of the local church, said today.

"These evangelists come here highly recommended as dynamic preachers of the old fashioned gospel school, having been in the ministry many years," the Rev. Mr. Parham said.

"Mrs. Mills is a well-known soloist with a voice of rare quality and Miss Bridges is also a talented musician. Santa Ana folk will have the privilege of hearing this unusual gospel team every night next week excepting Saturday night, on subjects dealing with prophecies, the second of Christ, Salvation and the baptism of the Holy Spirit."

Sunday morning Mrs. Mills will speak on "The Cross Marked Life," while Sunday night, the sermon will be "What's Your Price?" Everyone is invited. Sunday night, in connection with the sermon, there will be a long color motion picture reel of Almeer Sample McPherson's entire trip through Panama, including scenes about the many Four Square Missionary stations in Panama. The missionaries in charge in Panama also will be shown at work. The program begins tomorrow at 7 p. m.

Was Predicts $1500 Front Foot For S. A. Property

"Fifteen hundred dollars a front foot for property at 17th street and North Main street," was one of the many predictions made by Frank Was, manager of the Security-First National Bank in Santa Ana, yesterday at the regular meeting of the Santa Ana Realty Board, as he visualized Santa Ana with a population of 100,000.

"Fourth and Main street will be known as 'Old Town' and will still be a busy commercial center while the chief residential section will not be the northwest part of town but on the Laguna hills," he said.

Based on Past Changes
Cross streets from 17th street to Edinger will be busy arteries and Flower and Bristol streets will be roaring boulevards. Was predicted.

Was based his predictions on various changes in Santa Ana that have taken place in the last 20 years and offered the revelation that a recent survey of business sales in downtown Santa Ana showed that 72 per cent of the business comes from territory east of Main street.

He was introduced by Rex Kennedy to the realtors. Ray Goodcell presided at the meeting.

DEDICATES PROGRAM

G. Willard Bassett, soloist for the Golden Jubilee Christian endeavor convention, will dedicate his local Sunday evening radio "Songs of Eventide" program to the convention. The program can be heard at 9:15 p. m.

COLOR HAILED AS KING THIS SPRING BY LOCAL BOOSTERS

Color is king this spring! That's the theme of the annual Santa Ana Hospitality Night and Spring Opening event, set for next Friday, March 10. The event for 1939 will be called "Fashions of Tomorrow," and it is expected to be the most colorful event of its kind ever staged in this city.

Plans for the event were announced today by F. A. Jones, chairman of the Retail Division of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the annual affair.

All Santa Ana retail stores in the business section are cooperating in plans for the annual event. It has been decided that stores will close at their usual hours next Friday, reopening at 7 p. m. and remaining open until 9 p. m. While visitors may make purchases of merchandise if they desire, the primary object of the event is to bring about a friendly feeling between patrons and stores, and to display the wealth of new spring merchandise which will be featured in displays.

Each store will develop its own theme and provide such entertainment, souvenirs and decorations as it chooses. Color will be emphasized in every phase of the activity. Several stores are planning elaborate style shows in order to most effectively exhibit the beauty of new fashions for spring.

One of the most colorful features of the event will be the strolling troubadours who will contribute a gay touch to the celebration. Two or more groups of Mexican musicians and singers will be on the streets and in the various stores from 6:45 until 9 p. m. Attired in their colorful native costumes, the musicians will help entertain the thousands of visitors the local stores expect to entertain.

Members of the special committee assisting Chairman Jones in plans for the event include Mrs. Alice Peterson, Walter Swanberger, George Paes, E. G. Alcott, Dana Washburn, George Spielman and Walter Vandermaast.

City, County News In Brief

Drake, Clement E. Lewis, Walter R. Beck, all of La Habra; Paul N. Baker, Long Beach and O. S. Matson, Costa Mesa.

Former Belvidere, Neb., residents will hold a picnic at Jack Fisher park here tomorrow, it is announced.

Dr. Mark Serrurier who lectures at the Willard auditorium Monday evening on the Palomar telescope is himself a graduate of the California Institute of Technology, and he is now on the teaching staff.

John Osterman of East Seventeenth street, was elected vice chairman of the "Calapproved" seed committee of Southern California at a recent meeting held in El Centro. Osterman has been chairman of the Orange county seed committee. Attending the meeting from Orange county were Mr. and Mrs. Osterman and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Cory.

Ralph Klous, area supervisor for the National Youth administration, with headquarters in San Diego, conferred with M. E. Barnhill, Orange county supervisor, at the NYA officers in the post office building yesterday.

Evangelistic services at the Full Gospel Assembly, 1600 West Third street, continues on next week daily at 7:30 p. m., except Saturday, conducted by evangelist Jack and Esther Martz, from Pennsylvania.

The Easter series on "The Art of Living," as Exemplified by Jesus," now running at the Unitarian church, will consider tomorrow the subject: "How He Judged Right and Wrong." The service is at 11 o'clock.

Obstreperous L. B. Girl Jailed

Eva Gerrard, 19-year-old Long Beach girl, who had a three-hour free ride in a local taxicab last night, was arrested at 3:30 a. m. by Santa Ana police and booked at county jail on a vagrancy charge. Taxi officials told police the girl refused to pay her taxi bill after the long ride. Police learned she had no money with her. Officers W. H. Heard, Cornish Roehm and John Casey, who made the arrest, alleged Miss Gerrard became insulting after her arrest and told them she "didn't need any money to get along."

FEATURED SCREEN ATTRACTIONS AT SANTA ANA THEATERS

WEST POINT IS FILM'S LOCALE

Two Special Films To Be Here Sunday

Capturing the behind-the-scenes romance, gaiety, adventure and excitement of life as it is lived at the United States Military Academy, Edward Small has lavished his talents of showmanship and entertainment on his first major film attraction for the current season—"The Duke of West Point" which comes to the Broadway tomorrow for its Santa Ana premiere.

Headed by a cast which includes Louis Hayward, Joan Fontaine, Richard Carlson, Tom Brown and Alan Curtis, this romantic drama tells the story of young cadets who enter a different and difficult world when they become plebes of West Point. Recording their ups and downs, their personal human dramas, their pride and prejudices, the picture is unrelentingly authentic background which were photographed at West Point.

Bonita Granville again appears as a brave and clever heroine in "Nancy Drew-Reporter," the companion feature. This is the second of the series of Carolyn Keene's popular stories. Other principles in the cast include Frankie Thomas, still Nancy's best boy friend, and John Littel. Cartoon comedy, "Three Bears" and newsreel complete the bill. Miss Granville, who is 16 years old, between pictures attends Hollywood high school.

Presented by an impressive cast headed by Freddie Bartholomew, Spencer Tracy, Lionel Barrymore, Mickey Rooney, Melvyn Douglas and John Carradine, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's screen version of Kipling's "Captains Courageous" opens tomorrow at the State. "It's a Gift," second star vehicle of the program, is a nonsensical, laugh-packing comedy starring W. C. Fields. "The Spider's Web," serial, also screens.

Freddie Bartholomew crowns his brilliant young career in the role of the rich young American boy who is swept from the deck of a liner in a gale off the Grand banks, rescued by a fishing crew and trained to the life of the hardy men of the sea.

Fields, in "It's a Gift," with his brand of comedy, is the whole show, a one-man riot. Gags, absurdly foolish, which follow fast and furious in dialogue, action and situations, are the basis of all of the fun-making. Romance gets a play, too. Briefly, a successful failure at running a grocery store, Fields buys a "California orange grove" which turns out to be a sun-baked desert after Fields and family auto-caravan to the spot. Of course, everything eventually turns out well in a roaring tomfoolery finish.

Race Wagering Is Theme of Picture

THREE MESQUITEERS RIDE

Th Three Mesquiteers, Robert Livingston, Ray Corrigan and Max Terhune, a again come through with an exciting, entertaining picture in "Heroes of the Hills," coming to the State next Friday and Saturday on a variety program. This time, the fast-riding, fast-shooting trio helps save the taxpayers' money by exposing a crooked contractor and arranging a plan whereby prisoners of a crowded penitentiary are allowed to assist rangers in their work.

"Three Men on a Horse," starring Frank McHugh and Joan Blondell, with Guy Kibbee, Allen Jenkins and Edgar Kennedy, and "The Farmer Takes a Wife," starring Janet Gaynor, Henry Fonda, Charles Bickford, Jane Withers and Andy Devine, provides the entertaining twin bill for the State theater Wednesday and Thursday.

"Three Men on a Horse" tells of the adventures of a greeting card salesman whose uncanny gift for picking winners of horse races gets him kidnapped by three small-time gamblers who want his "method."

Cagney Has New-Type Role In Coming Film of West

"The Oklahoma Kid," Warner Brothers stirring calvacade of America's westward march, starring James Cagney, is coming soon to the Broadway theater. Also featured in the cast are Humphrey Bogart, Rosemary Lane, Donald Crisp and Harvey Stephens. The picture is laid in the lawless days when the Indian Territory was being opened to settlement, and one of its most impressive scenes is the beginning of the famous land rush of 1889 in which some 30,000 homesteaders raced across country to stake out sites in newly opened Indian territory. At the outset of the picture Jimmy is a young outlaw who has become famous as a sort of Robinhood of the southwest. After his highly respectable father is lynched through a scoundrel's plot, the rest of the story deals with Cagney's revenge.

NEW "TOPPER" FILM COMING

Everyone remembers "Topper," that farce fantasy which amused filmgoers last season through its novel photographic effects. Now United Artists has come back and given a demanding public another dose of this camera trickery. Roland Young plays the title role in the current film, "Topper Takes a Trip," and Constance Bennett is again seen as a sprightly ghost. Billie Burke, Verree Teasdale, Alan Mowbray and Franklin Pangborn are in support. The management of the Broadway has announced that "Topper Takes a Trip" is scheduled for screening locally a week from tomorrow.

A new Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy and a new warmth and comedy spirit in musicals makes itself manifest in "Sweethearts," the fifth co-starring musical of the famous singing team, which comes to Walker's theater screen tomorrow for the three-day run. "Daffy Duck in Hollywood," color cartoon; a travelogue, and world news events also are features of the bill.

In "Sweetheart," Technicolor has given both singers more vivid personality. Miss MacDonald and Eddy portray two Broadway musical comedy stars who are husband and wife in private life. Their quarrels, temperamental outbursts, and their joint attempt to outwit a producer who wants to prevent them from accepting an offer from Hollywood, make for a comedy which is rich in laughter and at the same time replete with beautiful and original song and dance presentations.

The pair offers a musical feast in their singing of the lovely Victor Herbert songs. Frank Morgan, Ray Bolger, Mischa Auer, Florence Rice and Herman Bing are included as principals in this sparkling film. Morgan has the role of the laughable, scheming producer, Bolger, the part of Miss MacDonald's dancing partner. W. S. Van Dyke II directed, blending to perfection, the delightful script and spectacular song and dance numbers.

Fields-Bergen Film To Close

Ending tonight after a successful three-day run at the Broadway theater is the double comedy program, "You Can't Cheat An Honest Man" and the "Girl Downstairs." Manager George King announces. W. C. Fields, Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy combine their wit to make "You Can't Cheat An Honest Man" one of the best wise-cracking comedies seen on any screen, he reports. Charlie's wooden country cousin, Mortimer Snerd, runs Charlie a close second throughout the film.

The second feature, "The Girl Downstairs," finds Franchot Tone, enacting the part of a wealthy playboy in love with Rita Johnson, but due to a series of complications his affections are transferred to Francisca Gaal, a scullery maid. Supporting the three leads are Walter Connolly and Franklin Pangborn. Cartoon comedy, "Porky's Tire Trouble" and newsreel complete this all-comedy program.

Temple Film Is Ending Tonight

Closing tonight after a successful run on the West Coast screen is Shirley Temple's latest and greatest film, "The Little Princess." Manager Eddie Sugden reports. America's No. 1 box office attraction proves she is one of the greatest actresses on the screen today, young or old. This beautiful technicolor film unfolds a heart-throbbing drama of the days of England and the Boer war. Miss Temple is surrounded by an excellent cast including such names as Richard Green, Anita Louise, Arthur Treacher, Cesar Romero and Sybil Jason.

Showing as companion to "The Little Princess" is a sparkling comedy drama of rival newspaper columnists, "Private Secretary," featuring Andy Devine, Ruth Donnelly, William Gargan and Joy Hodges. Walt Disney's latest comedy cartoon, "Goofy and Wilbur" and newsreel complete the program.

"PYGAMILION" TO SCREEN
When "The Admirable Crichton" was released some years ago, those who read that they run were astounded that it was not a nautical picture. Taking no chances, M-G-M now announces that "Pygamilion," coming soon to the West Coast, is not an animal picture. It has nothing to do with pigs or pigmies, and the

ALL-COMEDY BILL BOOKED

An all-comedy program is scheduled for Walker's screen for three days beginning Thursday when "Going Places" and "In Society" double-bill. "Goonland," cartoon, and world news events also screen.

"Going Places," with Dick Powell and Anita Louise heading the cast, is an hilarious farce whose action is interspersed with some highly original and tuneful song numbers. Such shining lights in the fun-making field as Allen Jenkins, Walter Catlett, Harold Huber and Thurston Hall are seen in the picture, as well as Ronald Reagan, Minna Gombell, Louis Armstrong and Maxine Sullivan. The humor of the piece revolves about the masquerade of Powell, a timid sporting goods salesman, as a famous steeplechase rider, and his being forced to make good his boasts.

Hilarious adventures of a gang of east side alley kids as invited guests at a fashionable Long Island estate will be revealed in the gay farce "In Society," featuring "the little tough guys" of the screen and Mischa Auer, Edward Everett Horton, Mary Boland and Jackie Searl. The alley kids, made companions of the rich kid, Searl, to help him get over his laziness, set the tempo for a riot of comedy sequences.

Comedy, Drama To Double-Bill

Fast and furious comedy and romantic drama will predominate on the bill at Walker's theater Wednesday when "His Exciting Night," starring Charlie Ruggles, and "Secrets of a Nurse," starring Edmund Lowe, Helen Mack and Dick Foran, double-bill for one day only. "Shooting for Par," a sport reel, also screens that day.

"His Exciting Night" presents Ruggles as a bridegroom, snatched from the church and placed in an embarrassing predicament with a gorgeous blonde. His attempts to explain furnish a fast and laugh-filled plot. "Slapsie" Maxie Rosenbloom, Benny Baker and Stepin Fetchit are in the cast.

The timely story theme of "Secrets of a Nurse" deals frankly with the sharp controversy over ethical or non-ethical revelations a professional nurse can or cannot make. Lowe is cast as a high-powered criminal attorney who sacrifices romance and reputation as an invincible courtroom statigist when he defends a young woman pugilist on a murder charge.

"STAGECOACH" SCREENS SOON

With Claire Trevor and John Wayne playing top roles, Walter Wanger's new frontier drama, "Stagecoach," which will have its initial local showing at the West Coast Wednesday, unfolds a gripping story of pioneer courage—of brilliant heritage that has descended to young Americans from men who fought and hewed a nation out of a wilderness. It is a saga of brave women who went with them to bring comfort and love to the lonely outposts. It was filmed in Monument Valley, 180 miles from the nearest Arizona railroad.

Louise Platt, George Bancroft, John Carradine, Andy Devine, Thomas Mitchell, Tim Holt, Donald Meek and Berton Churchill, featured in support of the stars, portray the strange group of passengers thrown together with the coach as it proceeds from Tonta, Ariz., to Lordsburg, N.M. On the program, in addition to the regular short subjects, will be seen the feature length comedy-drama, "Pardon Our Nerve," in which two young "racket-dears" in their struggle to live and manage a second-rate prize fighter.

Davison, decorations; Mrs. Thomas Clark, tallies; Mrs. Charles Adams, candy; Mrs. James Merigold, refreshments; Mrs. John V. Newman, fashions; Mrs. Carleton Smith, publicity.

Mrs. Manly Nelson, chairman of the table committee, has assistance of Mesdames Stanley Anderson, Worth Babbitt, Richard Ewert, William Jeffrey, Dolph Kelsey, James Truitt, John Allen, Frank Harrington and Miss Mildred Spicer.

Mrs. Swan Entertains Arbor Vitae Club

Mrs. Elmie Van Slyke Swan was hostess to Arbor Vitae club members Thursday afternoon in the Monterey room at Swansons, where dessert was served in advance of bridge play. Bouquets of colorful stocks and St. Patrick's favors brightened tables.

Card play of the afternoon brought prizes to Mrs. John Smith and Mrs. Peter McIntosh, who scored high and low. Mrs. Addie I. Kruger, a guest, was presented with a special gift. Three tables of bridge were in progress.

Next meeting will be held March 23 at 1 o'clock in the home of Mrs. C. R. Walter, 718 Hickory street.

Eighty-Eighth Birthday

Although no formal celebration of Mrs. Mary Whitson's 88th birthday yesterday had been planned the day was given special significance as a number of friends dropped in at her home, 814 North Broadway.

Mrs. Whitson, who has been in delicate health for a number of years, sat in her wheel chair and chatted with the many guests who called. Her daughter, Miss Martha Whitson served tea. There were quantities of flowers and other gifts to add to the enjoyment of the occasion of the honoree. Born in Iowa, Mrs. Whitson has many friends in this city, where she took part in a number of church and club activities before dropping out several years ago because of poor health.

Mother, Daughter Join In Giving Layette Event

Mrs. George Wells and her daughter, Mrs. Douglass Ferry, had arranged a charming spring-time setting for a layette shower which they gave last night in the Wells home, 2020 Victoria Drive, in compliment to Mrs. Robert U. Smith. There were quantities of sweet peas, carnations and lilies to suggest a pink and white motif observed throughout the evening. Arrangements had been made for the enjoyment of two different games. Mrs. Mark Lindsey and Mrs. E. L. Smith were rewarded for their high scores in bridge, while Mrs. Kermit Maynard of San Diego scored high in Chinese checkers.

Clever indeed were the decorations which came into prominence during the refreshment interval. Each of the bridge tables was centered with a tall stork figure and an accompanying nest of eggs. The furthered an idea expressed in tallies and other party details. Individual ice cream storks were served with the delectable of pink and white-frosted cakes. Mrs. E. L. Smith aided the hostesses.

Consecutive Days Bring Charming Parties In Miller Home

Thursday and Friday afternoons brought two of the week's most charming parties, with Mrs. Herbert L. Miller and Mrs. Dexter Ball combining hospitable plans which found ideal expression in the Miller home, 1809 Heliotrope Drive.

The co-hostesses received 20 guests on each occasion, serving luncheon in advance of card play. White stocks, peach blossoms and roses giving springtime beauty to the rooms included several bouquets sent in by interested friends. One of the loveliest was from Mrs. J. B. Tucker, who has been ill for some time, but is reported making satisfactory recovery.

Luncheon tables were centered with white azaleas blooming in pretty containers circled with white frills. These served as table prizes in bridge play. Winning the attractive awards the first day were Mesdames George Briggs, L. F. Moulton, Lloyd Chenoweth, Paul Dinamore and William Flood of Pasadena. Fortunate in scoring high the second day were Mesdames Wilbur Barr, Fred Forgy, Lawrence Bemis, John Ball and Clarence Jordan. Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Ball gave two luncheons as opening events of a series which probably will be continued later in the spring.

Nuptials Are Solemnized For Miss Marie Kelly And Harvey Rice

Simplicity in every detail characterized the quiet wedding last night in St. Joseph rectory, at which Miss Marie Kelly, recently arrived in the Southland from Chicago, became the bride of Harvey Rice, a Californian born and reared.

Only intimate members of the family circle gathered for the wedding service conducted at 6 o'clock by the Rev. Father Francis O'Brien. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kelly, parents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. James Willis Rice, parents of the bridegroom; Percy Rice, and the Walter Rices of Laguna Beach. The bride's brother, Thomas Kelly Jr., who has located in Alhambra, was unable to be present.

The bride was very smart in her modish spring suit whose beige tones were accented with dubonnet hat and other dress accessories and a long shoulder spray of gardenias. She was given in marriage by her father, and the duties of matron of honor were fulfilled by her mother. This same intimate family spirit was maintained by Mr. Rice who had the assistance of his father as best man.

After a short Southland honeymoon, the young couple will remain for the present with Mr. and Mrs. James Willis Rice at the family home on East Seventeenth street, and the bridegroom will resume his duties with the Turner radio company. His bride attended University of Chicago, and is a graduate of Mount St. Mary's-On-the-Hudson, in New York.

Torosa Sewing Club
Elects Year's Officers

Thirty members of Torosa Rebekah Sewing club met yesterday with Mrs. Alice Tolhurst, 1054 West Fifth street, where Mrs. Irene Lancaster and Mrs. Laura Sanborn joined in hostess duties. Covered luncheon at noon provided an enjoyable interval, followed by the business meeting and election of officers.

Mrs. Nannie Myers was unanimously returned to the office of president, which she has filled so capably for two terms. Her staff will include Mesdames Clara Hilliard, treasurer; Martha Van de Walker, recording secretary, and Leona Talbott, press reporter. Mrs. Myers was happily surprised by the gift of a beautiful coffee table, in recognition of the fine leadership she has shown for the past two years. Mrs. Tolhurst made the presentation on behalf of the club.

Following the satisfactory reports offered by various officers and committee chairmen, the group decided to cancel the usual monthly card party in March, and on the regular meeting date, March 14, attend the all-day and evening Rebekah district meeting in Westminster. Mrs. E. K. Murray, state Rebekah president, will be instructor.

Mrs. Alice Martz of Battle Creek, Mich., and Mrs. Tway of Mesa, Arizona, were special guests at yesterday's meeting. Mrs. Lancaster had made delicious candy which was served late in the afternoon. The April covered dish luncheon of the club will be with Mrs. Ada Spencer on South Broadway.

Origin of Soap Traced
For Ebell Section

Investing the prosaic subject of "Soap" with unsuspected interest, section members on the program yesterday for Ebell Third Household Economics section, provided a world of information regarding this household necessity.

This program was given in the clubhouse lounge after more than a dozen members had lunched together at home cafe, as guests of Mesdames W. B. Risk, E. T. Preble and W. L. Leiby. After congregating in the lounge, members devoted a short interval to business under leadership of Mrs. E. L. Morrison. She appointed Mesdames C. B. Prince, Fred M. Robinson and Amos N. Cox as a program committee for next year's section activities.

The day's hostesses were responsible for the program and Mrs. Risk opened this with an informative paper on the origin of soap, discussing its making in the days of Pompeii, and telling how the first soap was prepared from goat tallow and ashes. She also told of the use of olive, whale and peanut oils for necessary fat ingredient.

Since Mrs. Leiby was unable to be present, her part in the program was taken by Mrs. C. F. Bennett who described the annual soap making in early days, when lye obtained from wood ashes, was combined with the household fats to make the year's supply. Mrs. Preble went back to Biblical days in descriptions of the making and use of emollients and soaps and told how the early Romans used cleansing oils.

For their April meeting, members will discuss clocks, and Mesdames E. T. Battey, M. A. Menges and Charles G. Seamans will be luncheon and program hostesses.

Playmates Are Welcomed
To Birthday Party

When little Roseline Chapman had a party Thursday in celebration of her third birthday anniversary, she had the happiest sort of surprise in the many pretty gifts showered on her by the little guests. For while excited over the fact of having a party, she had not been told that there might be gifts!

Mrs. George S. Chapman planned the party for her small daughter and was joined by several mothers of the little people invited, in directing the happy play of the afternoon hours. Much of this took place in the garden of the Chapman home, 1066 West Third street, but the children trooped back within doors for the refreshment hour, when Roseline's birthday cake with its three little candles, was served with ice cream and other delights.

With its three little candles, was the home, and the flower effect on the table was especially pretty in sunny yellow, with party favors to match. Mrs. J. O. Davis, a niece of Mrs. Chapman, who was present with her small daughter Sharon, aided in serving Roseline and her twelve little playmates and the half dozen mothers present.

Pretty Luncheon Comes
In Advance of Card Play

Mrs. Harry Jackson received a dozen guests at Danigers Thursday for luncheon in an attractive setting suggesting the approach of St. Patrick's day. White stocks, greenery and the daintiest of doilies were in the prevailing green and white, while a touch of color was given by place cards in orchid tones.

After luncheon, the group went to the hostess' home, 1147 South Van Ness avenue, for bridge play. Bouquets of ranunculus blossoms, stocks and anemones formed a colorful background for events of the afternoon.

To Mrs. E. C. Russell of Anaheim and Mrs. George Holmes went prizes for the two highest scores in cards.

Mothers Study Club

"Music Before Five" was the subject discussed by members of Mothers Child Study Club Thursday evening when they met in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Lough-ton, 2060 South Birch street. Mrs. James Sims was leader.

Mrs. Gerald Bash and Mrs. James Wineburner were guests sharing the evening with 14 members. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Lough-ton at the close of the program.

Mrs. Forest White will conduct a discussion on "Building Character" at the next meeting, March 16 in the home of Mrs. Guy T. Matias, 1249 South Van Ness avenue.

THE MIXING BOWL

BY ANN MEREDITH

I hope you made some mint flavored apple jelly last September. If not, just give yourself to some shop . . . a woman's exchange . . . where you can buy the real jelly. This is what you will do with it:

Put jelly into asmal bowl and beat with fork to break apart. In another bowl beat 3 egg whites to the fluffy stiff stage. To the egg whites add alternate tablespoons of sifted powdered sugar and beaten jelly, and whip until well mixed. Taste and add lemon juice to make pleasantly tart. Have a bowlful of whipped cream ready (1/2 pint) and the egg yolks beaten to a thick cream. Strain yolks into whipped cream and combine cream with jelly mixture. Whip lightly to mix, smooth into the freezing pan and do not even peek while this delicious cream is freezing.

Serve Apple-Mint Ice Cream with a hot butterscotch dressing, or use a la mode on apple pie or slices of angel food cake.

Why don't you kill two birds with one stone? Send for the diet sheet and the calory sheet. Both sheets will cost you but 3 cents postage, so please enclose a stamped, return-addressed envelope for that purpose.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Jelly Filled Cookies
Cream 1/2 cup soft butter with 1 cup white sugar
Add 2 eggs, well beaten, and 1 tablespoon milk with 1 teaspoon lemon juice
Sift 2 1/2 cups flour with 2 teaspoons baking powder and pinch of salt.
Pelly, or strawberry or raspberry jam.

Work sifted flour into creamed mixture by degrees until all of the 2 1/2 cups have been mixed in. Knead dough lightly. Divide into two parts and roll thin. Cut rounds, slightly larger than ordinary cookies, put a small spoonful of jelly or jam on one cookie, cover with another and press edges together with a fork. Sprinkle with sugar and bake in a moderate oven.

Due to doubling up, the recipe will not make more than two dozen cookies.

Floating Island Pudding

Line a flat glass bowl with slices of stale sponge cake. Fill bowl with custard after it has cooled. Chill for several hours.

Custard

1 quart rich milk, scalded with 1/2 cup sugar and pinch of salt
Blend 2 tablespoons cornstarch with 2 tablespoons cold milk
Beat and strain 3 egg yolks
Beat 1 egg white to the stiff stage.

Cook cornstarch with boiling milk until a smooth sauce is the result. Stir in strained egg yolks and cook for 2 minutes longer. Take from fire and add 1 teaspoonful of grated orange or lemon peel and stir in the beaten white.

If you want to have an extra nice pudding pour a little wine over the cake before the custard goes into dish. Before bringing the dessert to table spread this meringue over it and slip under the broiler for a minute to brown.

Two egg whites beaten stiff then with 1 cup honey. (It will be a trifle thin but that won't hurt it.)
Au revoir until Monday.
ANN MEREDITH.

Three Chicagoans Arrive
After Speedy Trip

Unwearied by the exactness of their speedy trip from Chicago, Gerald D. Bassett and his son, Gerald Jr., and James McLean, who are visiting the Goodrich W. Bassetts at 211 East Tenth street, are spending each day on trips to Southland places of interest.

Mrs. Gerald Bassett arrived several weeks ago for a visit in the home of her brother-in-law, and will return to Chicago with the motorists when they complete their stay in another fortnight. The three left Chicago last Friday night at 6:30 and arrived in Santa Ana Monday morning at 5:30 o'clock. They averaged 50 miles an hour on the westward trip, taking turns at driving continuously for the interval.

Their equipment includes several fine cameras including a motion picture camera, and they have obtained many pictures of all points of interest, including colored motion pictures at the Santa Anita race track. Next week when Goodrich Bassett, secretary manager of the County Builders' Exchange, attends a convention in Sacramento, Mrs. Bassett and the Gerald Bassetts and James McLean will accompany him, and the entire party go on to San Francisco to visit the exposition.

Hundreds of delegates and members of the Christian Endeavor Union of Orange county will converge on the Santa Ana high school auditorium for a three-day convention starting March 10 in celebration of the Golden Jubilee anniversary of the organization.

The largest association of Christian young people in the county, the Union is composed of 73 societies from 34 churches of various denominations with a total membership of more than 1,500.

Locally, the Christian Endeavor Union endeavors to aid societies to work more effectively in their own churches, to enable young people to share Christian experiences and to make possible participation as a unit in large projects that could not be undertaken by any single group.

Chief among the projects being carried on by the Christian Endeavor Union is the hospital welfare work done each Sunday at the county hospital. Other projects include the erection of highway billboards urging the youth of the county to attend Christian Endeavor and the Christian Endeavor monthly paper known as "Echoes."

To carry on the various projects 28 officers are elected annually to superintend various phases of the work. Pictures of the chief officers and their associates are shown above.

It is in celebration of 50 years of activity in the county that the coming convention is being planned. An outstanding feature of the convention will be the musical selections prepared for the three-day parley.

A chorus of 100 voices, under the direction of Cecil Jeffry, of Los Angeles, will provide special music for each of the three sessions of the convention. The chorus pianist is Lois Allen. In addition to the chorus, special solo selections by G. Willard Bassett, Margaret Elsner and Frank Lindgren, Jr., will be presented.

Three prominent Southland ministers, Dr. Charles E. Fuller, Dr. M. Howard Fagan and the Rev. Harland Hogue, have been secured for various sessions of the convention which promises to be one of the outstanding religious gatherings in the history of the county.

The Santa Ana Register is sincere in its belief that the teachings of Jesus forms the background of the cultural and high ideals of the community.

The Register also believes that the City of Santa Ana is most fortunate in the number of churches in its midst.

We feel that these institutions embody many activities that are of interest and are deeply appreciated because of their splendid endeavors.

With these thoughts in mind, a number of Santa Ana Churches have endorsed this idea and with the co-operation of many Santa Ana Businessmen and the Register, are presenting these pertinent facts of which this page is the 24th of the series.—The Editor.

SELF DELUSION

The attitude of the German-American Nazis who held the big meeting in New York is hard for an ordinary American to understand. It seems to be a curious form of infatuation, a matter of nostalgic feeling rather than thinking.

For many of those Germans, and many of their parents, came to this country to get away from absolutism, militarism and tyranny. After their taste of real freedom and opportunity, the freedom that is let them say and write publicly things that are opposed by a big majority of Americans, they would hardly enjoy returning to the limited life and opportunity, and the strict political regimentation, of the Hitler dictatorship.

Some of them profess to hate our own government for its "tyranny." It would be a wonderful eye-opener if one out of every hundred of those infatuated Heil-Hitlers and Swastika-worshippers were to visit Germany and see for themselves what really is going on over there.

HOLES IN THIS NET?

It long has been customary and legal in the United States for property of religious, educational, charitable and similar institutions to be tax-exempt.

But in these days of rising taxes, when federal and local governments need money so desperately, the National Association of Assessing Officers is looking over this field.

It finds a variety of laws and interpretations of the general idea. Some states base immunity on the use of property. If it is actually used for the stated purposes, then it is exempt.

Other states regard mere ownership by such an institution as ground for exemption. Others base their test on the use of profits from the property, and whether any of them accrue to private persons. Some require that real property must actually be occupied by the institution to be exempt.

This lack of uniformity probably has resulted in exemption of large amounts of property which legislatures never intended to be exempt, the Assessing Officers believe.

Without changing a shade the present principles on which such exemptions are now made it seems likely that careful survey of the field might yield a surprising amount of taxes.

AMERICAN-CHINESE

Residents of New York's Chinatown celebrated the Chinese New Year the other day, but not "as usual." The elaborate and time-honored dragon was missing from the parade. In its place moved a motor ambulance of the type local Chinese merchants have been equipping and sending to China to aid in the fight against the Japanese.

There was also a huge Chinese flag carried horizontally into which people tossed money for a relief fund. There were the customary fireworks along the sidewalks and many gay silken banners fluttering from doors, windows and roofs. But the parade as a whole was serious and emphasized the interest of the American Chinese in the war going on in their distant homeland.

One section of the parade, however, turned attention less to the Far East and more to the future here in the free United States of America. Chinese Boy and Girl Scouts were marching there, most of them young Americans, reminding us again that here is a land where racial minorities may hold on to their ancestral language and traditions and at the same time be real Americans. Democracy gives to them, along with the descendants of its early settlers, education, freedom, justice and opportunity.

THREE P'S OF FIRE DRILLS

The National Board of Fire Underwriters has just issued a free bulletin on fire drills for schools, which should be read, studied and kept for reference by every school board.

The bulletin points out that there are three phases of adequate fire drills—plan, purpose and procedure. The plan depends upon the type, kind, design and location of each school. Definite, detailed instructions must be prepared for emptying the building. Here are some conclusions:

"The purpose of any drill is to perform the operation so often that in an emergency it can be carried out in a calm, unhurried manner. A real fire may occur at any minute, so no regular time should be set for the drills—they should come as a surprise. It should be kept in mind that the primary consideration of the drills is to completely empty the building as rapidly as possible. All other considerations are secondary.

"Procedure involves executing the drills with complete efficiency and savings of waste motion. Drills should never be conducted in a half-way manner. Except when weather conditions are exceptionally bad, the building should be evacuated completely. Further, drills should be varied to provide for the possibility of exits being blocked, and of getting the pupils away from walls that might collapse, once they are outside.

"Experts point out that fire drills are a farce in thousands of American schools. A real fire might result in untold deaths and maimings, because of crushing panic, as well as fire. It's up to every school board to see that drills are really efficient in the schools they control—and up to parents to see that the school boards act."

NEW YORK NAZIS

(Christian Science Monitor)

That American democracy can tolerate such a performance as the Nazi rally in Madison Square Garden is convincing testimony to its strength. The evidence that speech, even speech that incites to superstitious intolerance and hatred, is still free in the United States would have been even stronger had it not been necessary for 1,700 police to protect the meeting.

But the misuse of George Washington's name and picture, the mockery of Americanism, produced by uniformed "storm troopers" and their friends, probably was not easy to take. Compared with Norman Thomas's mild effort to speak in behalf of free speech in Jersey City—an effort Mayor Hague's legions couldn't stomach—New York's Nazis

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

I CONFESS I DO NOT UNDERSTAND

Mr. L. C. Carlisle, parrot like, repeats the statement that I am ignorant of the Townsend Plan, which is the reason I am not willing to give it a fair deal.

I am willing to confess that I do not understand why any man, with foresight and insight enough to know how employment is created and wealth is produced and distributed or conserved, should not be demonstrating how it can be done. If he really believes in his plan, he certainly would be demonstrating his faith in what he advocates by furnishing employment and creating wealth and not be doing jobs that any able-bodied man can do. Men, who have faith in their beliefs, demonstrate; they do not simply advocate. If taking from one and giving to another will greatly add to the wealth, it would seem that this man who poses as an authority on how wealth can be created would join with three other men and tax their transactions 2 per cent and allow one of them to have $200 a month income without working and, at the same time, benefit the other three who are paying the tax.

Any theory that is sound will work by diminishing or increasing it. If a man does not recognize this, he demonstrates his ignorance.

No, it was not a required condition that Mr. Carlisle get the endorsement of the Townsend Club in order that I debate with him. I had already accepted his challenge to debate before I suggested that it might add some prestige to his statements if he had their endorsement, since I had learned that Mr. Carlisle had not personally demonstrated his insight and foresight on the subject of creating employment and wealth.

Mr. Carlisle's insistence on his opponent being endorsed by the Republican or Democratic party is a nice example of what always happens to a man who has never done any difficult job, when he gets a little authority. Now that he is Chairman of the Central Committee of the Townsend Party, he seems to think that he has to be "choosy" and "snooty," as to those with whom he discusses the Townsend Plan.

For a man to be talking about what he is not willing to demonstrate, only proves he has nerve and gall, but nothing else. If I want to learn law, I do not go to someone without experience in law, but I go to the man who has demonstrated that he knows the law. Just so, when I want to understand the law of production and of wealth, employment and distribution, I do not go to the man who has not demonstrated how these laws work.

It is because the public has paid too much attention to men of this type that we have the longest and worst depression in our history.

I confess I do not understand how a man who has foresight and insight on economic problems can afford to spend his time doing what requires so little skill in doing when the world is so much in need of people who can teach us by example how wages can be raised.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN ON A MONARCHY OR A REPUBLIC

When the Constitution was signed, Benjamin Franklin was asked, "Is it a monarchy or a republic?" He replied by saying, "A republic, if we can keep it." George Washington, in writing to La Fayette, said the new government was in no danger of degenerating into a monarchy, aristocracy or any other form of despotism, "so long as there shall remain any virtue in the body of the people."

It seems that there is very little virtue in the majority at the present time, judging from their willingness to confiscate the fruits of other people's labor.

On another occasion, Franklin said the new government "can only end in despotism as other forms have done before it when people have become so corrupted as to need despotic government, being incapable of any other."

When the government decides that they can take any fraction of what a man produces and give him nothing in return, when the government passes rules that men who have produced and abstained cannot make their own selection as to the men to develop this property and when the government permits the misuse of bank credit that robs millions of honest, innocent people, then we are in great danger of becoming despotic.

MAJORITY RULE

Nowadays, as we hear so much loose talk about democracy, it might be well to remark that if democracy really meant majority rule it would be a very simple matter to have a democracy. But real democracy does not and never did mean majority rule.

In the United States, when the Constitution was accepted, only one man out of four had the right to vote and at that time the vote was not a secret vote, but a public vote. So people voted then quite often as the leaders told them to vote. It was not until about 50 years ago that we started the secret ballot. Then we came a little nearer to the majority rule. But, even now, it is reported that there are ten million people in the Southern states who do not exercise the right of franchise because of property qualifications or a poll tax.

And the Constitution required three-fourths of the states to pass an amendment so that 12 of these states can prevent a new amendment from going into effect.

And it has been largely due to these Southern states that many of the radical, socialistic, Utopian pleasant illusions in government have been prevented from passing.

No, democracy is not as simple as being majority rule as the demagogues and the educators would have the people believe.

is put on a show that might have been calculated to evoke violence from the 10,000 who surrounded the hall. That nothing more serious than a few punched heads resulted is a tribute to the New York police and some remaining sense of the self-restraint required to tolerate free speech. Even the traditional freedom to heckle was maintained.

We have a suspicion that more than a few of the 22,000 at the meeting were there to see how silly such a performance might be. We wish the proportion had been large enough to laugh the "Bundites" out of countenance and prove how little need there is to use their own intolerance and hatred against them.

THE BASIC PROBLEM

"The first principle of human society is the guarantee to everyone of a free exercise of his industry and the possession of the fruits acquired by it."

Fair Enough

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, March 4.—It takes a very keen nose for fraud to scent the fake in some expressions of indignation which have been heard since the D. A. R. refused to rent its hall in Washington for a recital by a Negro woman singer.

Labor organizations have enforced an exclusion policy against many worthy Americans for years. Some unions have denied Negroes the right to work in certain occupations because they were Negroes and for no other reason. Some have denied white men, as well as Negroes, the right to work in occupations over which the unions have established monopolies.

In one notorious case a moving picture job trust demands an initiation fee of $1,000, and refuses to accept new members, even though they are able to dig up the extortionate price of a union card without which it is impossible to obtain work and the applicant can prove that he is an artist as well as an American citizen in good standing. I have a citation of a court case in which evidence showed that a union demanded an initiation fee of $3,000, which would make it one of the most expensive and exclusive clubs in the world.

One of the C. I. O. unions, dominated by a Stalinist group of communists, would, if it had sufficient strength to enforce its program, deny expression to artists in the literary line if they refused to take membership and thereby acquiesce in policies imposed by the Stalinists. Such Americans, artists or not, also would have to contribute money to the political program of an organization which they believe to be un-American or anti-American.

I use the word "artist" in a very careless sense. It is hard to say whether or not a writer is an artist, but, for that matter, is singing ever art?

Mrs. Roosevelt resigned from the D. A. R. because by continuing to be a member she would seem to acquiesce in a policy of which she disapproved, to wit, the exclusion of Negro performers from the hall in Washington. In that case she should have resigned long ago and would seem to have established for herself a moral compulsion to do so now. I assume, of course, that Mrs. Roosevelt does belong to the Democratic party. I have not inquired, but the assumption seems logical and non-actionable.

The D. A. R. will find among those who ridicule and detest it for this act of exclusion men and women who make a great virtue of their racial tolerance but are guilty of political intolerance equally narrow and vastly more threatening to the rights and independence of American citizens.

Marion Anderson, the victim of a not-too-painful martyrdom in Washington, was excluded from one hall by a ruling which instantly defeated its purpose and made famous a hitherto obscure singer. Even if the D. A. R. persists she will be barred from only that particular hall, and there is something about the D. A. R.'s conduct in the present controversy which gives one to suspect that the sisters may out-last word" Mrs. Roosevelt with an explanation vindicating their position.

But among those who most angrily scold the D. A. R. largely because of its stuffy and reactionary but always patriotic Americanism are some who would bar certain craftsmen or artists from all employment and artistic expression in print for refusing, like Mrs. Roosevelt, to acquiesce in policies which they disapprove.

If the D. A. R.'s action proves to have been correctly reported it will be a pleasure to join in the indorsement of Mrs. Roosevelt's action. But those who do applaud should be compelled to show clean hands in this test which would eliminate some of the loudest members of the communist clique.

My Pers'nal Opinion Is..

By Judd

Tolerance is something that's a good thing for everybody to have some of, and tax-payers is the most tolerant race of people there is. But there's such a thing as too much of a good thing, and if you got too much tolerance that makes you super-tolerant, and that's the same thing as a sucker, and that's the reason why there's so much corruption in government nowadays, on account of people being so super-tolerant that they get took advantage of. Ferinstance, nobody wants to see fellows out of work and their families starving, and so they tolerate the grafting of relief funds, just so's the feller that really needs the help can get a little of it. The only thing is, it's getting to be such a expensive pastime that a feller can't hardly afford to be tolerant no more, on account of it taking so much of his money for taxes that there ain't nothing left for groceries. And that's the reason why there's all this talk about a tax-payers strike, on account of people gradually getting to think that our legislators is spending too much of their time spending our money, instead of trying to think up something that'll help business to provide jobs. And not only that, tolerance means "to put up with," and if you're just putting up with something, it's a sure sign you ain't in love with it, and chances you'll change it fer something you kin love better the first chance you get. And that's why it ain't no time for the Republicans to be sitting back so cocky, like heirs at a funeral, and thinkin that their lives work is just only to block the opposition; they got to remember that it wasn't their outstanding achievements that won back them few seats, no sir, it was on account of the tax-payers losing some of their tolerance—and dang near all of their money. And if the Republicans was really smart, instead of jest thinkin so, they'd be busier than ants at a picnic, right now, interducing helpfull legislation.

SOME PLAIN FACTS

First some things generally believed which yet are not true.

It is generally thought that the prominent and wordy political economist, the man or woman who writes for financial journals or for financial columns of our big dailies, are authority in matters about which they write. Far from it. You have but to read these writings, compare them with the facts, to know that these fellows are far more ignorant of things about which they write than is the ordinary business man or the farmer on his farm.

Read carefully for a few days the articles appearing daily in The Register, compare them with each other and with the facts and you will see the folly of paying the least heed to what they have to say.

Roger Babson is one of the most eminent of these. He knows how to manipulate securities. In other words he is an accomplished gambler—or gambler's tout. He knows how the financier manipulates money. He does not know how money should be used. He is a fair sample of this genus.

These are the men who sit in comfortable seats eating and drinking the product of other men's labor while spreading their propaganda of infinite folly. It is following the lead of such men which has brought us to the dire condition we are now in. Yet they would have us continue the same sort of thing on the theory that rabies may be cured by "A hair of the dog that bit you."

Do you know any such writers? If you do, you know the men who would have us revert to the practices which brought us to this most pitiable financial condition. I should have said, continue those conditions, because we have not changed in any marked degree.

Another false belief is that the consumer pays the bills. The consumer pays nothing. The producer pays it all. No matter what the bill, be it price of goods, sales tax, income tax or just plain tax—all is paid by the producer.

The wealthy fellow cries about his income tax and his cries have entered into the ears of the sympathetic writer of "Sharing the Comforts" and that gentleman "Weeps with those who men have paid not one cent of the hated tax. The producer paid it. The man with the hoe. Debt Grows and Grows

By ERIK MCKINLEY ERIKSSON

Professor of History, University of Southern California

On June 30th of this year the Federal debt will total $41,131,502,010 or about $16 for every person in the United States. In another year, the President has informed Congress, the total debt will be $44,458,000,000, a net increase of almost $28 for each man, woman and child in the country in a period of twelve months.

As a result of a decade of deficit financing the debt will have been increased by the stupendous sum of $28,273,000,000. When the World War ended the nation found itself saddled with a debt of about $25,000,000,000. During the 1920's, a period which New Dealers sneer at as the "Old Era," the debt was reduced at the rate of almost a billion dollars a year until, at the end of the fiscal year 1930, it stood at a little over $15,000,000,000. Then, in 1931, through Federal expenditures for all purposes, including the promotion of public works, totalled only $3,670,000,000, there was a gross deficit of $616,000,000. Altogether, before the Hoover administration ended, there was an increase of about $4,600,000,000 over the low point of 1930.

Accompanying President Roosevelt's recent budget message is a table showing Federal receipts and expenditures, actual and estimated, for the ten year period 1931-1940. This chart reveals clearly why there has been such an extraordinary increase in the debt during the period. The cost of the legislative, executive and judicial branches of the government increased from $756,000,000 in 1932 to an estimated $965,000,000 in 1940. The cost of national defense has risen from $664,000,000 to an estimated $1,336,000,000 in the same period. From $499,000,000 in 1932, the expenditure for public works has increased to an estimated $1,044,000,000. The T. V. A., which did not exist in 1932, is costing $40,000,000 a year while grants to public bodies, which were not made in the previous administration, will require an estimated $366,000,000 next year.

Not until the last year of the Hoover period was Federal money made available for relief. Then the R. F. C. was authorized to loan up to a total of $300,000,000 to the states for the purpose. President Roosevelt estimates that $2,019,000,000 will be needed to carry the Federal relief load during the eleventh year of depression conditions. Interest on the public debt, which required $599,000,000 in 1932, will require $1,050,000,000 or over one-ninth of the whole governmental expense for the year. The Agricultural Adjustment Program, which was not started until 1933, will require $684,000,000 in 1940. The railroad and general social securities programs, also non-existent before the New Deal, are charged with a total of $1,055,000,000 in 1940.

At only one point has the Roosevelt promise of economy, made in the presidential campaign of 1932, been carried out. Veterans' benefits and pensions, which required $973,000,000 in 1932, will require $434,000,000 less in 1940. Only in 1936-1937, when the so-called "soldiers' bonus" was paid, did expenditures for veterans show an increase.

The statistics here presented are not intended to provide anyone with entertainment. But they should promote some "honest to goodness" thinking. The New Dealers are seeking to raise a "smoke screen" by proclaiming that the major portion of the debt increase has been due to "Federal investments." As President Roosevelt put it, "the deficits that have been incurred have gone for permanent, tangible additions to our national wealth." This is a fallacious claim which will not stand up under close examination.

One fact stands out like a sore thumb and that is that ten years of deficit financing, with the deficits due chiefly to a futile misconception of pump-priming, have not brought the United States out of depression conditions or solved the unemployment problem. Is it not about time for a change of policy?

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—No diplomatic overtures have been made officially, but an extremely significant deal to carve up Africa will be sprung by Hitler and Mussolini soon.

Keep your eyes open for a "Conference on Raw Materials" or some other high-sounding name. This will be suggested in the near future by the Rome-Berlin axis, and to the conference will be invited not merely Europe's four main powers, but Poland and Spain.

This is Hitler's latest secret sop to Warsaw. Colonies for Poland have been discussed recently by von Ribbentrop, Nazi foreign minister, and the Polish foreign minister, Colonel Beck. Mussolini will also demand new colonies for his minion, General Franco.

The conference will avoid the appearance of being another Munich and will have behind it the perfectly plausible motive of providing more raw materials and economic resources for the nations now without them. However, the means of providing these raw materials may be tough for the French and British palate.

For what Germany has in mind to satisfy its raw material craving is a slice of Africa extending from French Senegal on the west coast of Africa to Lake Chad, in the very center of the continent, and then south to the Belgian Congo. This would include Liberia, an American Negro free colony, Nigeria and large chunks of French territory.

Mussolini's Appetite Italy, in turn, proposes to get Djibouti and part of French Somaliland, part of Tunis and a strip connecting her present colony of Libya with Ethiopia. This would be carved out of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

Mussolini and Hitler would also demand some extra African territory for their new Fascist ally, Spain. This is to be a slice of Morocco extending to the base of Atlas Mountains. What will be asked for Poland is not yet known, but probably the old German colony of Tanganyika.

Thus it will be seen that Germany will not be asking for the return of her old African colonies, but considerably more than her pre-war holdings, and for herself and her allies.

Note—the London stock exchange has reflected recent optimism regarding continued peace, and there has been some Anglo-French sentiment for making overtures to the Rome-Berlin axis. Whether French and British public opinion will meet the above demands, however, is doubtful.

Munich Statesmen Lord Kemsley, editor of London's Sunday Times, the Sunday Graphic, the Daily Sketch, High Sheriff of Buckinghamshire, and chairman of Allied Newspapers Ltd., was in Washington recently where he was entertained at various dinner parties.

At one of these, his host introduced him to Colonel Harrington, chief of the WPA. It was just after Harrington's request for additional WPA funds had been turned down by the senate, and Lord Kemsley remarked: "I say, jolly bad luck you had in the senate this afternoon. I The Rail.

was up there when they voted against you on that appropriation. Pure politics, it seemed to me. What you need are statesmen, not politicians, don't you think so?"

"If you mean statesmen of the Munich type, we don't want 'em," shot back Harrington, and walked away.

Under The Dome

Greatest expert on Jesse James in the capital is Harry Hawes, erudite ex-senator from Missouri. In preparation for the Missouri Society Dinner, Hawes dug through the Library of Congress for every scrap published on the famous Missouri bandit, published a booklet on the James brothers . . . Great Britain now has 186,000 less troops in her army than when the World War started in 1914 . . . Mussolini's latest inamorata is a 17-year-old German beauty with whom he appears publicly. Diplomatic dispatches indicate that Il Duce seems to be definitely in love, much to the consternation of Fascist advisers. He is 56 years old . . . Best recent reporting of the international situation has been by Constantine Brown. His dispatches are carefully clipped by the White House, and the President not only read every one, but recommended them to his diplomatic friends.

Supreme Court Dicker Some highly interesting maneuvering is taking place behind the scenes in Washington state because Senator Schwelbach is being considered for the supreme court.

Behind this maneuvering is the fact that Governor Martin of Washington, anti-New Deal Democrat, would not be at all averse to getting Schwelbach out of the state and retired to the relative inactivity of the supreme court.

Governor Martin, his friends report, has in mind running for the senate himself when his gubernatorial term expires in 1940, and apparently figures that Schwelbach might be a tough candidate to beat.

So the behind-the-scenes jockeying is to get Martin to appoint George Yantis, chairman of the Pacific Northwest regional planning commission, to the senate, if and when Schwelbach is appointed to the court. Yantis is a Democrat and strong Roosevelt supporter.

Then in 1940, Yantis would withdraw from the senate to run for governor, and Martin would run for the senate. Whether the plan goes through remains to be seen, and depends largely upon the gentleman who has just been reviewing the fleet. However, it is important to remember that New Dealers' chief objection to Schwelbach's appointment is the hole it would leave in New Deal ranks in the senate. The Yantis appointment would remedy this—at least until 1940.

NOTHING UNUSUAL

SEATTLE, PORTLAND
MIX AT FULLERTON

ANAHEIM—Four hurling hopefuls get their baptism by fire when the Rainiers line up against the Portland Ducks tomorrow in the first 1939 game at Fullerton.

Manager Jack Lelivelt announced that mound duties would be handled by Dave Stewart, right-handed hurler from Los Angeles; Mike Budnick, right hander from Seattle; John Linde, southpaw from Portland, Ore.; and Clarence Fedemeyer, right-handed Seattle boy.

Joe McNamee, sensational backstop prospect, will work behind the plate, and Lelivelt hopes to see his predictions for the giant Seattle youth bear fruit in the Sunday contest.

Remainder of the team, the skipper said, will be made up largely of rookies, since most of the regulars have been on hand too short a time to have rounded into shape.

Today's infield, Lelivelt's greatest worry due to the failure of Tony Piet to show, consisted of the veteran Alan Strange at shortstop; Bill Wilson, a Los Angeles boy, at second base; Kid Leffler, newly-signed Los Angeles kid, at third; and George Archie, Toledo Mudhens importation, at first.

Larry Potter of Seattle traded off at first with Archie, and it looks as though Lelivelt may have plans for the apple-cheeked youngster.

Cavorting in the outfield will be a gang of youngsters, including Dick Wake, George Nokes, Bill Hornig and Dick Miller, all of whom have shown an occasional spark in their workouts.

First playing casualty of the training season bobbed up this morning, when C. Carlson, left-handed first sacker from the northwest, stopped a hard-hit ground hit ball with his teeth. He was able to leave the park under his own power after first aid from Doc Richards, Rainier trainer.

FOXX CLAIMS
BANQUET TITLE

Foxx believes it's a mistake to concentrate on hitting homers, winning the batting title or setting your sights on any particular laurel.

"I've had all the laurels and I always found that I did my best when I didn't try too hard for any one of them," said Foxx. "The year I hit 58 homers I wasn't shooting at Babe Ruth's record in particular. I didn't think I had a chance but I came close because I was loosened up and not pressing. I hit six homers in the last week of the season that year."

Even last year Foxx, who hit 50 homers, might have been running neck and neck with Hank Greenberg in quest of Ruth's record of 60 if he hadn't had an injured hand for ten days in August. During that stretch, when he could barely grip a bat after being hit by a ball thrown by Joe Cronin, he made only two hits. Greenberg got hot during that stretch and pulled ahead.

"I think somebody will break Ruth's record some day," said Foxx. "Hack Wilson, Greenberg and myself all have hit 58. That means it is not so far away somebody can't break it."

SQUABBLE ON OVER
ORSATTI SERVICES

LOS ANGELES.—(UP)—Two Pacific Coast league clubs were embroiled in a squabble today over Ernie Orsatti, the veteran outfielder who retired from the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Hollywood Stars want Orsatti, which brought a blast from Phil Bartelme, president of the Sacramento club, who bid for Ernie last two years ago.

In a letter to President Tuttle of the Coast league, Bartelme protested that when he made his 1937 bid "Orsatti said he was through with baseball for all time because of business interests in Hollywood. I feel that if he returns to baseball, Sacramento is entitled to first crack at his services."

Oscar Reichow, business manager of the Hollywood Stars, replied that "Orsatti won't play for Sacramento. The only reason he is willing to play for Hollywood is that he has many motion picture people about, connected with the Stars, whom he believes his ball playing ability can help."

honor roll as paying your share. Listen now to the most startling statement which can possibly be made within the limits of truth:

IT IS GENERALLY CONCEDED BY GOVERNMENT STATISTICIANS THAT THE COUNTRY'S WEALTH IS PRODUCED BY LESS THAN FORTY PER CENT OF THE POPULATION.

Yet we talk much of over production—another myth. What about the forlorn men and women who have brought the country thus far along the way, have passed the age of possible productivity, find themselves the victims of circumstances—and thieves—fated to stand or sit idle penury while the beneficiaries of their labor call them thieves when they ask a crumb from the loaf they have produced?

Gentlemen of the Clearing House, all these ask is JUSTICE.

JURICH WINS WHEN
MONTANA'S EYE OUT

HOLLYWOOD.—(UP)—Jackie Jurich of San Jose today had two victories and a draw to show for his round-robin with Small Montana of Manila. Their third meeting ended last night in a technical knockout awarded Jurich in the seventh round when he cut a gash over the Filipino's left eye. The San Jose buzzsaw had been winning all the way. He weighed 114 and Montana 12.

BOYD
IN NEW YORK DEBUT

NEW YORK (UP)—Jack Dempsey, who has been searching for a "white hope" ever since Joe Louis rose to power, blamed the pathetic showing of his latest find, Wild Bill Boyd, on poor physical condition and stage fright today.

Wild Bill dropped a 10-round decision to lanky Jim Robinson of Philadelphia in the all-heavyweight show at Madison Square Garden last night.

Although it was a split decision, Dempsey said he was satisfied Robinson had earned the decision. It was the second setback for Boyd in 24 professional starts, and Dempsey had bet $1000 to $500 he would win. Boyd showed a powerful left hook, and if he had had the strength he might have won, but he tired surprisingly in the last four rounds. Robinson floored him with a right to the chin in the second frame. Boyd gave away 23½ pounds, scaling 182 to Robinson's 205½.

The other surprise on the program was Gene Bonin, rugged New Haven, Conn., veteran who earned a six round draw with the hard-hitting Pat Comiskey, 18-year-old sensation from Paterson, N. J.

The listed feature bout was a dull 10 round affair in which Nathan Mann of New Haven, making a comeback after knockouts by Louis and Galento, scored his fifth straight victory over Buddy Knox of Dayton, Ohio.

MRS. TESSMANN
TALK BEFORE P.-T. A.

GARDEN GROVE, March 4.—Mrs. Jessie Lasby Tessmann of Santa Ana Junior college, was the speaker at the meeting of the grammar school Parent-Teacher association, held Thursday afternoon in the Washington school. The speaker, who was a delegate to the national convention of the National Council on the Cause and Cure of War, held at Washington, D. C., described resolutions drawn up by the group and told of the problems of preservation of peace in international relations.

A feature of the business session was the election of officers for next year. Mrs. A. L. Schneider was re-elected president; Mrs. W. W. Perkins, Jr., first vice president; Mrs. W. E. McCracken, second vice president; Mrs. Victor McClain, treasurer; Mrs. Cartwright Smith, recording secretary; Mrs. Harvey Emley, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Albert Bradley, historian; Mrs. J. A. Mauerhan, parliamentarian.

The meeting opened with a salute to the flag led by John Cadogan of the Lincoln school, and devotions by Mrs. D. S. Jordan. An account of the next meeting date coming during the Easter vacation the next meeting will be set up a week earlier and be held on March 30. An appeal was made for clothing for needy families. Anyone having articles may leave them at the school.

Preceding the meeting the executive board met at the home of Mrs. Jack Reed for a luncheon. Several members of the faculty were guests.
